63 Bodies Recovered In Mine

32 Men Rescued; Fear Death Toll Will Mount to 80

(By the Associated Press)

SPANGLER, Pa.—Thirteen additional bodies were taken from the mine of the Reilly Coal Co. here bringing the total dead recovered to 63. All are in a temporary morgue. Thirteen more bodies were in the mine, rescuers said, and 32 injured were in the Miners' Hospital. An explosion yesterday entombed the men.

Mine rescue experts said they had explored all but two of the headings and did not expect to find any more bodies.

Coroner Schwab of Johnstown shortly after noon began arrangements for holding the inquest.

Rescue leaders estimated that the men in the mine when the explosion occurred were not more than 112. The total accounted for is now 95.

There was still some uncertainty as to the number of men who went to work yesterday but it was pointed out that if the total was 112 as some authorities believed, the missing 17 would probably be found in the eighth heading where the water had risen so rapidly that exploration this morning had been impossible. If these men had gone into the mine, it was asserted, they had probably perished.

If that proved true, the leaders said, the number of dead would reach 80.

Efforts were being made to repair the pumps, damaged by the explosion while a force of workers were cutting a passageway through the coal between the eighth and ninth headings. With this work complete, they hoped to reach the last of the unexplored galleries by noon today.

The grim task of removing the dead started about 2 a. m. after widows and children of the missing men had been induced to return home. Tthey stood in the misty rain all through yesterday.

Rescue chiefs believed that the mine would be cleared of bodies soon after daybreak.

Red Cross and Salvation Army workers were on hand distributing coffee and sandwiches to the rescue [illegible] as they came to the surface with their burden of death or to replenish their oxygen tanks for new explorations.

When rescue workers entered the [illegible] soon after noon yesterday they encountered bodies in the main way only 100 feet from fresh air. [illegible] waited only long enough to make sure there was no spark of life and then hurried on into the gassy chambers to search for possible survivors. Their hopes were high when they came upon a rudely constructed brattice on which was scrawled:

There are [illegible] miners behind [illegible]

But the rescuers pushed on deeper into the [illegible] who had not [illegible]. The gas was strong at this [illegible] and they feared that should they break down the barrier the weakened condition of the men could not stand the inrush of the deadly fumes.

Other rescuers later found more than a score of bodies huddled together. It is believed that this [illegible] was one behind the brattice. [illegible] to the mine itself was [illegible], officials announced. An examination showed that the force of the explosion lifted the fan [illegible] from its foundation. It is [illegible] 200 feet from the tipple.

Tobacco Co. Names Gary As Director

George E. Gary, Madison, state [illegible] of the P. Lorillard Co., [illegible] leading tobacco companies [illegible] country, has been [illegible] of the board of [illegible] corporation, it was [illegible].

Mr. Gary will remain at his post here for the present, he said today.

[illegible] Mr. Gary is a [illegible] tobacco industry in [illegible] Hoen, secretary of the [illegible] Wisconsin Tobacco [illegible] said [illegible] "In addition to [illegible] man to aid [illegible] policies of the company, the [illegible]tance of Wisconsin as a [illegible] center is also recognized."

Mr. Gry was chosen at a meeting of the board of directors at a meeting in New York last week.

Fraternal Union Plans Initiation Wednesday

Madison assembly, No. 87, Equitable Fraternal Union, will initiate candidates at Moose hall Wednesday night. Following the business session the side captained by Clin[illegible] Archer will present a program [illegible] members and their friends. The [illegible] will serve rye bread and wieners. The business meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

Tells The Capital Times of His Experiences in Getting Many Drinks of Moonshine

By THE DRIFTER

Where straggling streets degenerate into scrawling alleyways, where half-timbered structures are placed one upon the other like drifting flotsam, just to the west of Wisconsin's capitol, there is Madison's "Little Italy," the home of the moonshiner and the felon, where murder and lust stalks hand in hand.

Earth's fairest cities have the sorest sores, and this scar upon Madison's breast stands as a monument to the vicious carrions who feed upon the health and peace of man, defying law and order. Beneath the quiet river of those streets there glides a current both sinister and dark.

Ever since I have been in Madison I have heard of this Italian section. Black-hand plots, murders, and moonshine have made it famous. And yet I always wondered what the true "Little Italy" was like.

My partner in this undertaking was a floater, never mind his name. I picked him up in a West Side pool hall and became attached to him because of his acquaintance with the section.

So through half darkened streets we passed, the tourist and the floater, to discover "Little Italy." As we passed along on our excursion I reflected that on these same byways the cool assassin might be lurking. Indeed the evening was pregnant with possibilities.

The first place, or "joint," as my friend called it, which we visited was a store on Regent st. A respectable enough place judging from outward appearances. My partner new the ropes; I listened and followed.

"'Evenin' Jo, I want to use your telephone," spoke my guide, slipping a package of gum in his vest pocket while the sleepy Jo blinked across the counter at a customer. I followed my cohort in curiosity back of the counter, made a turn to the left, walked up three steps and passed into a darkened room. Through another doorway we emerged into another darkened room. Through a partly opened door-way I glimpsed six men, all Americans, roughly dressed, playing cards around a table. Before I could speake my amazement my companion slapped his palms together, once.

A slattern woman, her shifty gaze passing from me to the floater, peered around a partition, then entered and turned on the light. She spoke one word: "Well?"

"About three fingers, mother," ordered the gloating guide in a manner that seemed to speak the pride he enjoyed in being the conductor of such an embryo as myself. "Sit down, friend, and make yourself at home," he requested of me.

A moment later the woman of the shifty gaze returnde, in one hand a bottle, in the other, two glasses. These she placed on the table, then, her hands on her hips, spoke one more word: "Well?"

"Give mother a dollar," this from my guide.

I offered her the bill, her seamed hands clutched it, and she disappeared.

"Well, neighbor, here is your first taste of the bottled dynamite that sends men to hell." The glasses were filled with a proprietory air by my friend, and he addressed me again: "This is the stuff that men pay for with their health."

"Brr-rr-rr, dynamite, I should say this was more like T. N. T. mixed with nitro-glycerine," I gasped, shaking my head uncontrollably while the green taste of the poison settled in my mouth. "To think that these fiends have the nerve to charge a man for poison, and to think that the public is fool enough to pay for it and drink it."

"Ah, young fellow, you don't know the half of it," said the wise one over his glass. "Look at me. See these circles under my eyes, these blotches on my skin? They all came from this stuff, but I cannot stop drinking it and neither can you if you keep at it long enough. It will get you and it will get me."

I looked at those eyes. Indeed he was right. They were the eyes of a man who had seen much and grown tired, the eyes that seemed to speak mute words of better days. I shuddered.

"Let's be moving neighbor," I spoke to my guide. "Let's take a fling at a couple more of these places." Indeed the potency of the fluid I had just drank was already making itself manifest and a feeling of recklessness surged through me.

As we emerged once more into the street a big Packard touring car rounded the corner, and as it passed the wild laugh of a young girl's voice floated back to me. A few feet more and I came abreast of a big sport car of expensive make standing at the curb, and still farther down, another one. What was the meaning of these cars standing here at the curb in such constrast to the squalor of the street. I questioned my friend.

"That is simple to answer," he replied. "Those cars come down here to get their liquor and then move on. They do not belong here."

The memory of that girlish laugh came back and I questioned further.

"Oh, yes, high school kids come down here and get moonshine," and he laughed to think of my credulity: "You know during the days of licensed liquor a minor was kept from the bar rooms. With the era of the bootlegger and the moonshine there is no such thing as a minor. Everyone is fair game for the man who traffics in illicit liquor."

We turned in a doorway of a pool hall, sauntered over to the bar and ordered a bottle of pop. My friend spoke to the proprietor in a manner which denoted an acquaintance of long standing. We got our pop. My friend proposed a stronger liquid. I consented. So for the second time I took my "moon" while the sons of "Little Italy" looked on. Something told me that the air of the place was unhealthy and I was attacked with a sudden inclination to perambulate. I followed my inclination.

Arriving at the corner we started across the street and up Murray st. Passing a store on the corner my friend nodded toward it and said:

"That is the place that the

$500 Haul Made By Burglars

Milwaukee Roal Station at M'Farland Entered By Thieves

In the second burglary there within a week, yeggmen broke into the station of the Milwaukee road at McFarland last night and escaped with postal packages, clothing and other merchandise valued at $500. A truck was used to carry off the loot.

An organized band of housebreakers is being sought by county officials as the burglars, who are believed the same who entered the office of the Edwards Brothers Lumber Co. last Wednesday night and attempted to blow the safe with nitroglycerine, but failed.

The ransacking of the station was discovered by B. A. Allen, McFarland agent for the road, when he went on duty at 6 a. m. today. The interior of the station was wrecked and boxes and packages scattered over the floor.

Federal agents were also to begin an investigation today as mail pouches were rifled. They may seek to connect the burglars, it is said, with the men who broke into the station at Middleton two weeks ago and escaped with cash and registered letters valued at several hundred dollars.

Safe Breakers at Shiocton, Wis., Bank Frightened By Gunfire

(By the Associated Press)

APPLETON, Wis.—While 150 armed men were rushing to the village of Shiocton near here to block every automobile avenue to the town, robbers working on the safe in the Bank of Shiocton were frightened away when an overzealous citizen of the village fired a shotgun in the air. The robbers fled from the bank in an automobile a few minutes before the posses, coming from three directions, reached the village. The bandits stole an acetylene torch from a Shiocton machine shop and used it to burn off the lock and hinges of the vault door. This was the second attempt to rob the bank in four weeks and the fourth since the bank was established.

Farmer Believed Suicide Confronts MourningFamily

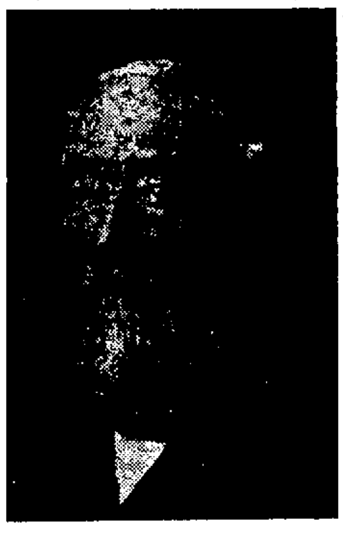
(By the Associated Press)

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis.—Andrew J. Bauer, after being mourned by his family as dead for over a year, has reappeared at his farm home near Durand. His reappearance was as sudden as his disappearance. when on a wintry morning he left a note in the barn saying he was going away never to come back and his clothing was found on the banks of the Chippewa River with every indication that he had committed suicide. He left a large farm and was apparently in good financial circumstances.

Bauer stated that he had spent the time during his absence in northern Wisconsin logging camps and farms. The only explanation that Mr. Bauer gave is that he owed a debt on his farm which had worried him.

Madison Pioneer Votes for 75th Consecutive Time at Local Polls; Breaks Record

A. J. Krum, Aged 95, Leads "Older Generation" Balloting Today



A. J. KRUM

Voting for his 75th consecutive year, A. J. Krum, 29 W. Doty st., today set a pace for the younger generation of voters in Madison, yea, even the older generation, to follow. So far as is known, Mr. Krum is the oldest voter in the city who visited the polls in person today. He celebrated his 95th birthday last Aug. 9.

Mr. Krum voted for the first time in 1846, casting his ballot in the presidential election for John Fremont. Mr. Krum recalls Henry Clay, having seen him a number of times in New York state, and remembers the bitter election fights in the East prior to the Civil war days.

" voted for the first time in Utica, N. Y.," he said. "I have seen Lincoln several times, as well as the log cabin famed as his home."

Mr. Krum voted for Lincoln during both of the elections in which he was a candidate.

There is one man in the city, however, who is running Mr. Krum a close race. He is Alexander A. rindle, 91 years old, who has been to the polls 70 times. He is a veteran of the Civil war, and being a Northern soldier, means, of course, that he voted for Lincoln.

Charles Henry Beyler, 411 S. Park st., is another competitor of Mr. Krum. He was 95 years old last April, and has voted nearly every year.

Col. William Sauthoff, William Hogbin and H. L. Farr are a trio which has set an enviable record at the polls. Farr went the other two one better in '57. He voted for Abraham Lincoln for president when he was not yet 21 years old. His vote passed the scrutiny of the election officials, though, and he claims that as a record. He is now 85 years old. Mr. Hogbin was 88 in September and Col. Sauthoff will reach his four score and eighth year next month.

Joseph W. Curtis, who voted today, is another example of consistentcy at the polls. He is 80 years old.

Ludwig P. Abel, 109 N. Hancock st., says he's "voted about every time the day came 'round," and that's some 63 times.

Dr. Charles S. Sheldon, who passed his 80th birthday last January, is another Madisonian who cast his earliest ballot for Lincoln.

Levi M. Breese, 407 Henry st., who celebrated his 85th anniversary several months ago, is a member of the "voted for Lincoln" club in Madison. "Once a Republican, always a Republican" is his motto. He could not visit the polls today. He was the adjutant of the regiment in which H. W. Rood, 77, was a member.

Mr. Rood claims the distinction of being one of the oldest Madison men who took his wife to the polls with him today. He voted first for Gen. U. S. Grant, and counts some 56 visits to the polls.

Henry Tanger, 1329 Williamson st., acclaims with pride that he's "a Republican now." Up to four years ago he voted as a Democrat. He is 76 years old.

"I voted for Bob La Follette today, too," he said.

President E. A. Birge, Prof. Stephen M. Babcock, Rufus B. Smith, John Rogers, Andrew Mayers and John M. Olin, are among other members of the "older generation" who cast their ballots today.

Boy Injured In Auto Crash Is Improving

Louis Rolff, 10, Making Brave Right; May Recover

In a little white bed in St. Mary's hospital, his head bandaged and his arms resting straight by his side, Louis Rolff, 10 years old, is making a grim fight for life.

The youngster's head was fractured at 10:30 Sunday night when the car in which he and his parents and William Schulz, Cottage Grove, were riding, turned turtle at the end of E. Main st. Little hope was held out for his survival yesterday, but today doctors are convinced that there is change for his recovery.

William Schultz, the driver of the car who pleaded not guilty in Superior court yesterday to a charge of driving a car while intoxicated, is in the county jail, awaiting the recovery of the child, for on his survival or his death hangs his own fate. Charges of manslaughter will be preferred against him in case of the boy's death, according to Dist. Atty. T. G. Lewis. Mrs. Carl Rolff, the mother who was also bady shaken up, is resting easily today.

Local Federal Building Gets FreshSetback

Act of Legislature is Demanded by U. S. Government

Madison's long-heralded new federal building, which has been a "project" for the past five years, was given another temporary setback today when Cong. John M. Nelson, who has fostered the movement in Congress, informed Herman Sachtjen, assemblyman for the first district, which includes Madison, that an act of the legislature must be passed before further steps toward the erection of the building can be taken.

The state must give complete control of the building site to the federal government by a special act, the treasury department has notified Congressman Nelson, he told Mr. Sachtjen in a letter received today.

An act fulfilling the government requirements is now being drawn, Mr. Sachtjen announced, and will be pushed in the legislature when it convenes in January.

The new postoffice and federal building has practically become a reality, as an option on the block bounded by Pinckney and Doty sts. and Wilson and Monona aves. has been secured. The price of the site is approximately $350,000.

Madison's Noon Vote Is Light

Balloting in Early Hours Slow; Battle For State Senate Control

BULLETIN

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON, Mass.—The first returns in today's election came from the town of Mashpee. The vote for governor and senator was: Gov. Cox, Rep., 52; Fitzgerald (D.), 6.

Senator, Gaston (D), 7; Lodge, (R.), 54.

The vote of the same town in the last election in 1920 for governor was Cox (R.), 44; Walsh (D.), 2.

Voters went to the polls in Madisonin only moderate numbers today, according to figures supplied to The Capital Times late this afternoon by election officials.

"Not near as many as we had at the primary," was the almost unanimous reply at the various voting booths, and the figures given out at 2:30 proved their statemetns.

Only 177 ballots had been marked by the electorate of the second precinct of the third ward when the check was made. Officials said that primary day showed double this number of votes cast at 2:30.

The voting throughout the city was done on a 70-30 basis of men and women. One official said that he expected a large number of women voters around the supper hour.

"Many women do not like to go to the polls alone," he said. "They wait until the days' work is over so that one of the men in the home can accompany them there."

Only 10 per cent women voted in the second precinct of the sixth ward. A total, of 156 ballots were cast.

In the first precinct of the sixth 229 voters visited the poll, only a few of them women. Forty-six persons, about one-third women, dropped ballots into the boxes at the booth in the second precinct of the seventh. In the first of the seventh wa-h, 325 voters voiced their opinions on the candidates.

The second ward officials reported 202 voters, the first warr, 223 and the eighth ward, 284.

The tenth ward sent the biggest delegation to the polls, with 450 recorded at 2:30. The fourth ward had 271 voters. In the ninth ward 275 electors had passed through the booth. Two hundred fifteen votes were received in the first precinct of the fifth ward, and 120 in the second precinct of that ward.

Election interest increased only slightly today as Wisconsin voters went to the polls to ratify, in most instances, their primary election decisions. Referendum on three proposed constitutional amendments injected the one new issue that confronted all electors of the state.

Local elections in state senate districts are going to decide the political complexion of the upper house of the legislature. These contests affect more directly than any other the affairs of all the people of the state. In addition, three congressional contests are attracting attention.

The success of the program of legislation to be submitted by the next state administration will depend upon the outcome of the contests in state senatorial districts. With the assembly overwhelmingly favorable to Governor Blaine, whose re-election is taken for granted by republican headquarters, the close lineup in the senate will determine the success or failure of the important tax program to come before the 1923 session of the legislature.

Fight for Senate Seats.

The principal fights for senate seats are between John E. Cashman, La Follette republican, and Frank A. Yindra, democrat, in the first district; T. J. Pruss, La Follette republican, and Walter Polakowski, socialist, third district; Bernhard Gettelman, La Follette republican, and Paul E. Schmidt, socialist, in the fifth district; John S. Kaney, La Follette republican, and William F. Quick, socialist, in the fifth district; Ben H. Mahon, La

Yacht In Atlantic HeldLost

Mrs. A. Y. Gowan Passenger on "Speejacks" 5 Days Overdue

Mrs. Albert Y. Gowan, a former Madison resident, is a member of the party on board the yacht, Speejacks, reported lost at sea, according to word received here tody. The yacht was incircling the globe.

Mrs. Gowan, wife of the Chicago manager of the Lehigh Portland Cement Co., is a daughter of Mrs. L. M. Golden, former housekeeper at the Park hotel here, and now a resident of Pomona, Cal. Both Mrs. Golden and her daughter are well known in Madison.

Despite the fact that the yacht had on board a powerful radio outfit, nothing has been heard of it since Oct. 28. It is five days past due at LaPalma, Canary Islands, dispatches stated today. Mr. Gowan, in his cable of Oct. 28. stated that the boat was taking the southern course. The storm which raged along the Atlantic about that time may have wrecked the craft.

The yacht left Gibraltar Oct. 28, and has been nine days on its way. The distance to he Canary Islands is 705 miles. The radio equipment has a range of 1,000 miles, according to Bernard F. Rogers, a guest part of the way, and at no time would it be out of touch with the wireless at Gibraltar.

It is pointed out, however, that the craft may have been driven toward the rock-bound coast of Morocco by storms and found a haven where the natives are anything out friendly to the whites.

Board Meets

Supervisors Will Gather For Session Here on Nov. 14

Tax problems and county highway questions will be the most important matters confronting the Dane county board of supervisors when they hold their session in the county court house Nov. 14. The Junior Superior court room will be used for the meeting.

A report on Dane county highways which was made out by the legislative committee of the Association of Wisconsin Counay Boards at the meeting in the capitol recently, will be submitted to the county board for endorsement, amendment, or veto.

It is expected that the board will be in session for ten days or more this year.

Citizens Protest New Apartment

A petition, protesting the erection of a proposed apartment building on Van Hise ave., near Roby road, signed by more than 50 residents in that neighborhood, will be presented to the city council Friday night, it was learned today.

The residents charge that the owner is rushing the work to prevent restriction by the proposed zoning law being considered by the council. They charge that it will be a nuisance through the use of soft coal for heating purposes, that it decreases the value of property adjacent, and that it is prohibited in that section by the proposed zoning law.

Scale Installation at No. 2 Station Begun

Installation of the new city scale at No. 2 fire station was started yesterday by the city engineering department. The scale will be placed on the Broom st. side of the station. The cost of the scale when completed will be about $845. It is of the Fairbanks-Morris Type P scales.

Our WeatherMan

The highest temperature in the last 24 hours was 46 at 12:30 p. m. and the lowest was 38 at 4 a. m. Sun sets at 4:43.

The storm from the plains is moving slowly into eastern Canada. The rains continue from the Dakotas through the upper lake region to New England. It is cooler in the lake region and on the central plains. Warmer in the plateau region. Heavy rains fell at Galveston and San Francisco, the thermometer being low over the Gulf and on the Pacific coast.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

Fair weather is indicatad for Wisconsin for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, followed by rain about the end of the week. Seasonable temperature will be followed by a rise by Friday.

Election Returns Tonight

Today is election day.

Returns from all parts of the country and from Wisconsin and Dane county will be flashed on tne screen on the Main street side of The Capital Times building tonight.

The country is waiting to see whether or not the Harding administration will be repudiated today. There are hot fights in many states. The Associated Press has made extra preparations to obtain the results in other states and The Capital Times will receive these returns over its Associated Press leased wire. The results in Ohio, Minnesota, Iowa, Michigan and New York and other states will be received at the earliest possible moment by The Capital Times.

Returns will also be received from all parts of Wisconsin and Dane county. Returns from Milwaukee and the ninth congressional district where hot battles have been raging will be received.

The Drifter Takes Stroll in "Little Italy"

state prohibition men raided the middle of the week and found over 700 gallons of wine."

I recollected having read about in the local papers. Who would have ever guessed that a place with a front as frank in appearance as this would ever be suspected of carrying on the liquor traffic. The floater must have read the question in my mind for he explained:

"Haven't you noticed that all of the places I have taken you tonight have been stores or some sort of a place of business? They get them coming and going in this section. They sell groceries or something for an honest living and make their big turnover with the liquor traffic."

At the next corner we turned east on Milton st. Part way down Milton st. I was forced to step up to a front porch to tie my shoe lace which had become loosened. I was somewhat surprised to have a short Italian step up to me in a questioning manner and say, "How much?"

The humor of the incident quite overcame me and I laughed outright. The old fellow had thought I wanted some moonshine and had made a mistake. Evidently it was impossible to stop anyplace in that section without stopping in front of a moonshine peddler's house.

At another store across the street we sauntered in through the back door and asked for a pint. It was passed to us straightaway. A dollar and a half placed upon the counter brought a grunt of satisfaction from the Italian and we passed out onto the street.

Walking south on Washington ave. I saw a patrolman traveling along in a business-like manner, his night-stick swinging in his hand. I was struck with a sudden appreciation of the responsibility placed upon his shoulders and I decided to speak with the man whom Madison asks to watch over the peace and order of "Little Italy". I approached him, introduced myself, and began a conversation, questioning him about his job.

"I am not in favor of the moonshine traffic that is going on in this section," he explained. "I am heartily in favor of any move to clean it out. It causes me endless trouble and sometimes a great deal of humiliation. I do my best to check whatever lawlessness comes my way."

"Are you aware of the common opinion that you officers are in with the rum runners of this section," I asked.

"Yes, I am aware of it. But here is one man who can declare that he has never been afraid to do what he thought was right. If I see anything going on that is against the law I do all within my earthly power to stop it. I have kept the honor of this badge clean at all times, even if my personal welfare stands in the way." And I believed him. But I had other business afoot, so I left him at the next corner.

The moonlight falling on the waters of the bay of Lake Monona attracted me and we wandered into Brittingham park, sitting down on a bench at the lake shore. While sitting thus, reflecting upon the memory of the places I had just visited, a roughly dressed man appeared as from nowhere. He thrust himself upon us without formal introduction and after a minute's careful scrutiny asked me if I wouldn't step over and let him tell me something in private. The mysterious air of the stranger attracted me and I followed.

"Listen, stranger,—I've been following you and your mate around the last hour and I guess you're looking for a time. How would a little feminine company suit your taste tonight. I've got a woman up in a room two blocks from here that will be your's for a little $2 bill. What do you say?"

As a matter of fact I couldn't say anything right away.

As I recovered my dulled senses, the adventure and entire uniqueness of the whole abrupt affair rather tickled me and I said it would be all right if he would wait a minute. I called my partner to one side and told him where to meet me at such and such a place within 20 minutes while I discovered the whereabouts of this place.

The stranger and I set out. He led me for a matter of a block along the lake shore, then turned left through a clump of bushes. I was in the lead as we entered into a still more dense growth. Something told me that all was not just as it should be and I turned around to see what the fellow behind was doing. As I looked around I saw his hand being elevated, and in that hand I saw a heavy black-jack, poised for a fall.

The party was getting a little too rough for me and I turned square about, driving straight for his stomach with my foot. I caught him in the shins, and with a curse he turned about and ran. The last I saw of him he was making fast time in the direction of South Madison.

The evening was not without success for me and my object, but too much thrills to one unaccustomed to them is sometimes dangerous, so I hurriedly sought out my guide and together we walked back up to the square. We parted with a promise to meet at a future date to explore a place of which few Madisonians are aware.

I turned west from the Park hotel to seek my room. A clock in a shop window showed that it was 1 o'clock.

Arnold Takes Up Collections to Pay Expences of Church Venture

Former Madison Bond Dealer Attracts Attention of New York

Victor H. Arnold, former president of the Madison Bond Co. here, has leased the Town hall in New York for Sunday mornings for a year and is taking collections at the meeting to help defray the expenses, according to word received by The Capital Times.

Mr. Arnold has already held one meeting and he is attracting much space in the New York papers.

Mr. Arnold, his New York address unknown, has paid a year's rent in advance for the auditorium of the Town hall for each Sunday, announcing a series of businessman sermons. No advance notices of the Town hall appearance of Arnold, Sunday, had been made. His delivery was hesitant and stumbling and his theme the same with which he had held audiences in Madison: The Simple Story of the Truth.

Without attempting to give any title to his belief, but holding his auditors with his evident sincerity, Mr. Arnold talked 40 minutes on Christian belief.

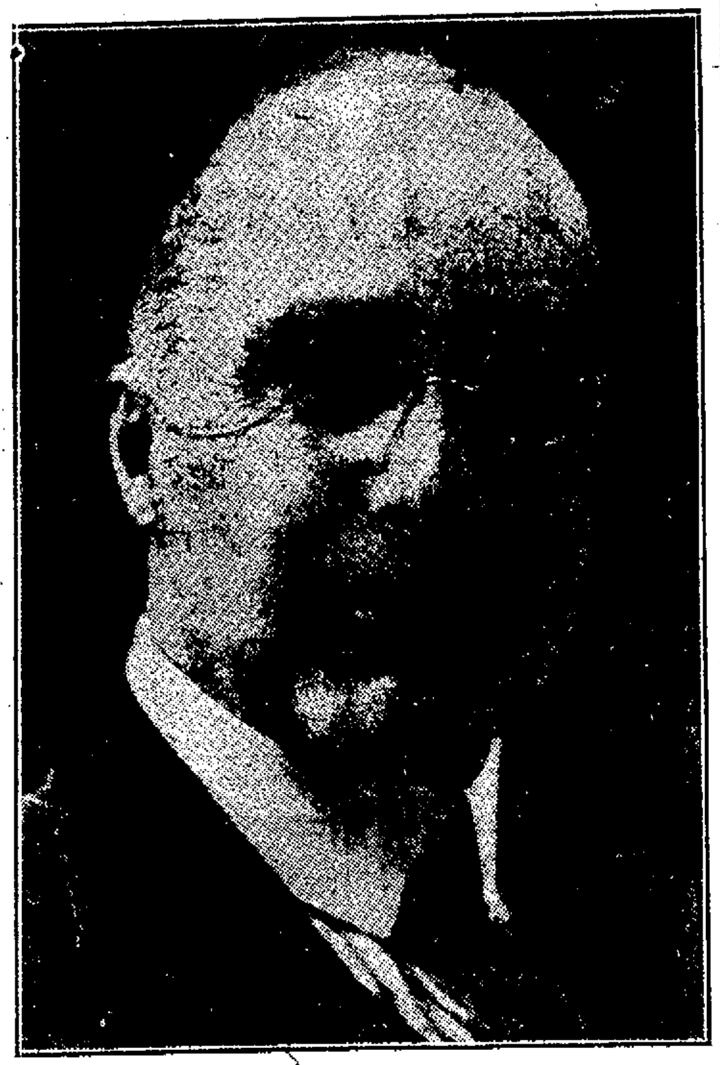
The half-filled auditorium listened with evident wonder. The preacher told his auditors he preached to them because he believed what he said and, as he had gone through life as an ordinary, hard-headed business man, he professed to know what kind of religion they wanted. If he was right, he said, they would find him there every Sunday morning for the next year.

"I want to preach the simple truths, the story of Christianity as it is told in the bible," he said. "You want good, plain, old-fashioned religion, not the embroidered kind prefixed with isms or taught by cults. You want religion that is founded on the Golden Rule, that is as old and as reliable as the religion Confucius taught. That is what we all want today and that is the kind I am going to give you."

Mr. Arnold did not make his talk too long and when he finished he walked from the stage and was gone. The few hundred persons looked at one another and wondered.

When inquiries were made later regarding Mr. Arnold, no one knew where he lived. Miss Mary Cleveland, secretary of the Town hall, was the only one who could explain.

"Mr. Arnold," said Miss Cleveland, "is a Chicago business man of excellent standing. His business references are perfect. He is a plain business man and he is sincere in what he is trying to do. New Yorkers as well as the people out west want old-fashioned religion without any fuss and he is going to give it to them. He is perfectly normal, just an every-day man with a will to do some good.



VICTOR H. ARNOLD.

Ask National Law For Regulation of Marriage, Divorce

WASHINGTON D. C.— Preparation of a bill establishing national marriage and divorce regulations for introduction in the next congress was announced Monday by the general federation of women's clubs, which has authorized Mrs. Edward Franklin White, deputy attorney general of Indiana, to draft the bill and a resolution amending the constitution of the United States, is such a course is necessary to make possible a federal marital law.

Provisions of the bill would make marriage more difficult, the announcement stated; and would allow divorce on one of only five grounds as follows:

Infidelity, incurable insanity, abandonment for one year, cruel and inhuman treatment, or conviction of a infamous crime.

Once granted, such a divorce would be valid in every state, but neither party to a divorce would be permitted to remarry until one year after the interlocutary decree was granted. The bill would provide also that applications for marriage licenses be posted two weeks prior to the ceremony.

Devine Named President Of Federal Heads

U. S. Department Chiefs Here Organize Business Association

Postmaster W. A. Devine was elected president and William H. Comerford, U. S. district court clerk, secretary, at an organization meeting of the Federal Business Association of Madison, held in the court room of the Federal building yesterday.

The purpose of the organization is to effect better cooperation between federal departments here.

Heads of each department were asked to be present. Another meeting may be held soon to complete organization and give those not present yesterday a chance to join the organization. Eric Miller, of the U. S. weather bureau, and Dr. J. S. Healy, of the bureau of animal husbandry, were chosen by Mr. Devine as an executive committee to act with the president.

Departmental heads who attended the meeting Monday afternoon were: C. P. Winslow, Forest Products Laboratory; Stanley M. Ryan, assistant district attorney; W. R. Chellis, U. S. marshal; Robert O. Quick federal prohibition agent Dr. J. S. Healy, bureau of animal husbandry; S. B. Soule, U. S. geological survey; Eric Miller, weather bureau; W. A. Devine, postmaster; William Esch, postal inspector; W. H. Comerford, clerk of court.

Other federal departments which are expected to send representatives are: department of markets, industrial commission, bureau of agricultural economics, bureau of plant industry, department of agriculture, meat inspection, military department at the university, internal revenue department, and the veterans' bureau.

Snow May Cut Farmer Vote In North Dakota; Nine Middle West States At Polls Today

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Fair weather for today's election was forecast generally for the north central states, except in extreme upper lake regions and the Dakotas, where rain and snows expected to affect the size of the vote in the rural districts.

In North Dakota inclement weather was regarded as a most important factor in the election. Yesterday's snowstorm and the weather outlook today increased the hopes of supporters of J. F. T. O'Connor, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator. O'Connor backers expressed the belief that he bad weather should reduce the Nonpartisan league farmer vote for Lynn J. Frazier, running for the senate under the Republican banner. Frazier's chief strength, opponents believed, rested with the farmers, whose pilgrimage to the polls was made difficult by bad roads.

Nine of the 33 states electing U. S. Senators today are in the middle west. They are Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota Ohio and Wisconsin. Most of the senatorial contests in these states rank as nationwide attractions with the Frelinghuysen-Edwards contest in New Jersey and others which have drawn universal interest.

In Ohio the Harding administration is put to the supreme test in the off year election today. Here in the home state of the president, Cong. Fess, a Harding Republican, is challenging the senatorial seat of one of the country's foremost Democrats, Atlee Pomerence.

In Ohio and Illinois beer and wine referendums are before the voters for an expression of sentiment and Missouri presents a real wet and dry fight in the senatorial contest between Sen. James A. Reed, Dem., and Reginald Brewster, Rep.

Reed, opposed by organized drys, and Wilson Democrats, relied on many wet Republicans to desert Brewster and rally behind Reed on the prohibition issue.

A woman Democrat is a candidate for the U. S. Senate in the three cornered race in Minnesota with Sen. Kellogg, Republiian, and Dr. Henrik Shipstead Farmer-Labor candidate.

In Iowa one of the features in the senatorial contest was interest in the size of the Republican revolt against the party nominee Smith W. Brookhart. Clyde L. Herring, Democratic candidate, expected support from the Republican rebels. In Nebraska where Sen. Hitchcock and William J. Bryan buried their hatchets after the commoner's brother, Charles, won the Democratic nomination for governor, Hitchcock and his Republican opponent, R. B. Howell, ended intense campaigns.

Indiana's senatorial contest between former Sen. Beveridge, Rep. and former Gov. Ralston, Dem., and the Michigan battle between Sen. Townsend and former Gov. Ferris are regarded as among the most important in the nation.

Illiois' chief issues, aside from the congressional contests, is the fight of Gov. Small and Mayor Thompson of Chicago for bi-partisan control of the legislature.

RAIN IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL—Muddy roads in the country and prospects of rain or snow in some sections, faced Minnesota voters who went to the polls today to elect a U. S. senator, congress and a complete state ticket. Two men and a woman head the list for senator—Frank B. Kellogg, Republican insumbent; Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen, Democrat, and Dr. Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor.

Denies Communists Review of Trial

WASHINGTON—Associate Justice Sutherland today denied the application of William Bross Lloyd and 17 other members of the Communist Labor party for a writ of error which would bring to the supreme court for review their conviction in Illinois on the charge of conspiracy to violate the state sedition law of 1919.

KENOSHA — Police here have notified physicians to be on the outlook for dope addicts who are reported in several sections of the county robbing physicians' offices for hypodermic equipment. The warning followed an attempt of burglars to enter the office of Dr. Adams here.

MADISON — Prof. W. J. Beib of the soils department will head the group of Wisconsin delega[illegible] to the third annual conference of the American Association of Soil Survey Workers to be held at the University of Illinois on Nov. 17 and 18.

Madison Boy Vanishes; Pal Also Missing

Lawrence Bump, 15, And Evansville Friend Vanish

Two boys, pupils at the Evansville Seminary at Evansville, who disappeared Nov. 4, are being sought by local police and officials of Southern Wisconsin counties.

The boys are Lawrence Bump, 15 and Paul Goar, 15. The former is the son of Mrs. E. L. Bump, 118 W. Wilson st. Young Goar is the son of the matron of the school. Notes left in their room declared that they were "tired of school."

The lads were last seen on the outskirts of Evansville on Saturday afternoon, headed toward Janesville. They were carrying .22 calibre rifles. Bump wore a Boy Scout uniform, brown sohes, gray flannel shirt and a scout hat. His companion was attired in long trousers, tan flannel shirt and a checked cap.

Both boys are about five feet in height and weigh about 100 pounds. Bump has long, "bushy" hair, brown eyes and long face and hands. Goar also has long hair and brown eyes.

Man Hurt When Trapped by Cars

Jammed between two trucks in the 600 block on Railroad st. at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Alois Radl, 29, an employe of the Wisconsin Foundry and Machine Co., was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the city ambulance, with his legs severely bruised.

Radl was standing by the side of one truck when the driver of the other machine backed into him, pinning his legs and bruising him. Hospital attendants stated that his condition is not serious.

Last Robin

One of Few Survivors of Coal Famine Seen in Madison, But Poets Are Silent

Poets and naturalists are moved to song when they record the arrival of the rst robin in spring. But no one seems to worry much about the last robin in fall.

One of the last was seen today in Madison in the 900 block on East Gorham st. And he was just as perky as though it were May and apple-blossom time.

Ornithologists say some robins stay with us throughout the winter. But with the present coal famine and prospects of a bleak northern climate, the December redbrast may prove this year to be a rare bird and one well worth going out to seek.

Joseph Tantilla, 7, Steps Into Path of Auto While Playing

Joseph Tantilla, 7 years old, 702 W. Washington ave., was taken to the General hospital at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, with one of his legs broken after being struck by an automobile at W. Washington ave. and Mount st.

The boy, while playing in the street, ran into the path of the car. it is said.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — J. B. Purves, Port Arthur, Ont., has been named manager of the Biron mill of the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Fred Eberhardt.

SUPERIOR — F. J. Seguin was elected chairman of the Douglas county republican committee. W. J. Keaough was named secretary and Mrs. Tillie Holden treasurer.

TurksAim ToGetNew Territory

Advance Into Mesopotamia as British Withdraw Their Forces

CONSTANTINOPLE—According to Turkish Nationals quarters, the British forces are retiring from Mosul on the Tigris in northern Mesopotamia, and the Kemalists are entering the area.

A telegram from Angroa says the grand national assembly has instructed Ismet Pasha, delegate to the Lausanne peace conference, to obtain realization of the following points:

"First, the frontiers of Turkey to be in accordance with the national pact; second, Greece to pay an indemnity; third, suppression of the capitalization or extra territorial rights of fooreigners; fourth, modification of the frontiers of Irak (Mesopotamia), and fifth, complete independence for Turkey, financially, economically, and politically.

Rafet Pasha, the new governor of Constantinople, has supressed the Turkish senate.

Ali Kemal Bey, editor of the Constantinople Anti-Nationalist newspaper, Sabah, has been arrested and condemned to death by the Turksh authorities here, the allies have been informed.

Late last night the allied representatives gave Rafet Pasha, the new civil governor of the city 48 hours in which to release the editor.

ACT TO PRESERVE ORDER.

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—The allied high commissioners at Constantinople have asked their governments for authorization to take all necessary measures to maintain order in Constantinople, it was announced here this afternoo. The commissioers, it was stated, will declare martial law if necessary.

WATERTOWN — The installation of new officers of Watertown council, No. 1478, Knights of Columbus, was held at St. Henry's hall. District Deputy L. F. O'Brien of Madison was in charge of the ceremonies. E. D. Stack is a grand knight of the local council.

7000 Programs of Homecoming On Sale Friday

Athletic Review Edition To Be Largest in University History

When the Homecoming Athletic Review, the official Homecoming program, rolls off the press Friday morning, Wisconsin will have by far the largest and most pretentious magazine ever compiled for a Homecoming celebration.

Seven thousand copies of the program will be sold beginning Friday noon, according to Porter F. Butts '24, editor. They will be placed on sale at Homecoming information booths, drug stores, at the mass-meeting and carnival Friday night and at the game Saturday afternoon.

The regular issue of the Athletic Review is combined with the Homecoming program making the book one of the largest and most attractive of its kind ever published by an American college.

To Have 56 Pages

Fifty-six pages, an increase of eight over other programs, are replete with pictures and feature material contrived to interest all classes of Wisconsinites attending the Homecoming.

Information concerning every Homecoming event, the game lineup and train schedules are included in the book and will be printed in it alone.

Featured in the book are three pages of running fire by "Chuck" of sport humor fame. Each man on the eleven comes in for his share of the typical Chuck elaboration and glorification.

Wisconsin Leads Illinois

Statistics showing that Wisconsin and Illinois again lead the Big Ten for 1921-22 in total athletic average are published in the book. Brief summaries of every Wisconsin-Illinois football game show that Wisconsin has won six contests against Illinois five. The coaches and captains of both teams are compared and statistical data on both squads is given.

For the first time every Wisconsin football score is printed in tabular form. From the scores Laurence Segard '23, associate editor, has devised a graph which shows the rise and fall of Wisconsin football success from the first days of '91 to 1922.

Shows Stadium Drawings

The stadium comes in for its share in the program in an illustrated story showing its development from its early days as a fair grounds to its present aspect as a Big Ten athletic field.

Other feature material includes an article by Dean Scott H. Goodnight on "What Does Homecoming Mean?" an illustrated resume of all Homecomings since the first in 1911, a retrospective writeup of "Football Old Timers and Old Times," and a report of the present Memorial Union campaign.

Illustrated forecasts of every major and minor sport at Wisconsin, giving to the graduate a swift perspective of athletics here at present complete the program.

Schools to Use 100 Tons of Coal in December

One hundred tons of coal a day during the month of December is the estimated amount needed to heat university buildings during that month. That means nearly half a ton of coal for every student enrolled in the university.

On November 1, exactly 3,720 tons of toft coal were on hand. Twelve cars with 540 tons have been recently received, and eight cars are now enroute.

The estimated consumption for November is 2,500 tons and for December it is 3,100 tons.

Urge Higher Auto Tax for Road Upkeep

County Boards Body Favors Graduated Fee on Motor Vehicles

The legislative committee of the Wisconsin County Boards association today submitted its report on proposed highway legislation to the 71 county boards of the state which hold their annual meetings on Nov. 14. At that time the various county legislative bodies will act on the suggested changes in the state highway laws, recording their opinions for submission to the legislature.

Pointing out that $36,893,700 was expended on highways in Wisconsin during 1922, the report says that an emergency has arisen in the state due to the fact that the last legislature failed to enact a highway appropriation bill. The report says that with almost 90 per cent of road funds now raised by taxation on general property public sentiment is unanimous in demanding that there be a shift of this burden at least in part from the property owner to the automobile owner. At present only $4,000,000 of the $37,000,000 expended in Wisconsin highway work is raised from the automobile owner for road purposes.

The principal proposals submitted by the county boards committee for raising highway funds include a graduated license fee on automobiles and light tracks based upon the weight of the car, 50 cents per 100 pounds of weight. This would produce about $500,000 annually. A 2 per cent highway privilege tax on the value of the automobile is recommended with estimates that it would raise $3,500,000 annually, and a 2 cent gasoline tax suggested would raise $2,500,000.

"The general effect of the plan above suggested would be to shift $6,000,000 of state and county highway taxes now imposed on real and personal property to the motor vehicle owner," the committee report says. "The total cost of operating motor vehicles in Wisconsin is estimated to be $160,000,000 per annum in 1922. It will easily be $200,000,000 in 1924. The proposed total taxation upon motor vehicles would be $10,000,000 per annum in 1924 or approximately five per cent of the total operating cost.

"The committee believes that this percentage is not excessive."

Don't Lie to Children, Or They'll Lie to You, Warning

Coaching a child o drop a year or two in their ages at such convenient times as entering a street car or a theater is an easy starting point for a youthful career of falsehood, Dr. Elizabeth Woods, clinical psychologist of the university, told members of the Catholic Woman's club yesterday afternoon.

"Children can rarely be fooled," declared Dr. Woods. "They know whether or not their parents are telling the truth, and they unconsciously lok up to them as an example.

"Every child should be made to feel that he is being trusted. It is only in this way that he will learn to trust himself.

"However children's lies are not so often real falsehoods as outgrowth of memory images. They actually believe that impressions that have gained are true and relate them as such. One of the most important things in the rearing of children is the development of a healthy imagination."

Childs Opens Speech Series Here Tonight

Jack Childs, Wisconsin's representative in China, will speak at three professor's homes this week and on Friday evening will address the Homecoming massmeeting in the gymnasium. Tuesday evening he will be at the home of Dean F. E. Turneaure, Wednesday at that of Prof. M. S. Slaughter, and the Thursday evening engagement will be announced later.

Various groups of faculty members will attend the meetings as will also workers in the Wisconsin in China movement. Childs is an old Wisconsin graduate and as such will contribute to the spirit of mass meeting speakers.

Income Tax Problem Up to Local Bodies

The distribution of income taxes for road building purposes is a matter for determination by local units of government, and is a problem for settlement by local administrative bodies, the legislative committee of the County Boards association replied today to Chester C. Platt, state manager of the Nonpartisan league, who has urged increase of income taxes to meet highway costs.

"The present yield from income taxes in Wisconsin averages about $6,000,000 per annum, of which the state retains only 10 per cent," the committee said. "The counties' share is 20 per cent while 70 per cent goes to the town, city or village in which the income tax payer resides.

"The committee feels that the distribution of taxation as between incomes and general property is a matter solely for settlement by the legislature and the administration. If the legislature should decide to increase income taxes, giving larger revenue to towns and counties, there is no reason why these units of government should not use the proceeds, if they see fit, to finance in whole or in part the county and town share of road improvement costs.

"The committee again reiterates that it is convinced that the motor vehicle is particularly susceptible to state taxation for state wide road purposes."

Hugh Walpole Will Speak at University

Hugh Seymour Walpole, English novelist, will speak here some time in December under the auspices of the Theta Sigma Phi, honorary women's journalism sorority.

Mr. Walpole will speak on "The English Novel of the Twentieth Century." He is making a tour of lectures under the auspices of the Lee Keedick Booking agency. He attended King's School, Canterbury, and is a graduate of Emmanuel College, Cambridge. During the war, he served with the Russian Red Cross. His latest novels published are "The Captives" and "Thirteen Travelers."

"Mr. Walpole is a very distinguished speaker and one the students of the university should support loyally. We should feel the honor of securing a speaker and authority of his reputation. When tickets are placed on sale, we trust the proper backing will be secured," Marjorie Ruff '23, president of Theta Sigma Phi, said yesterday.

Choral Union Finishes Christmas Concert Work

"In the Silence of the Night," a sacred chorus arranged from a Norwegian folk song by Clarence Dickinson, and "Carol of the Russian Children from White Russia," arranged by Harvey B. Gaul, will be taken up in today's rehearsal of the Choral Union. This is the last of the new material for the Christmas concert.

"The work thus far has been proceeding very satisfactorily," said Mr. Peter Dykema, concerning the progress of the work for the concert. "We believe we will have more interesting material in this program than we have ever had before." It is not decided yet where the Christmas program will be given.

Stored Coal Supply Normal Despite Strike

U. S. Figures Show Bituminous Bins Not Hard Hit

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Stocks of bituminous coal stored by commercial consumers and retailers in the U. S. on Oct. 1 were approximately as great as in normal years, in spite of the five months' coal strike of 1922, according to figures given out by Federal Fuel Distributor Spens, gathered by a survey by the bureau of the census and the geological survey.

The total in storage on Oct. 1, was 28,000,000 tons of soft coal compared with 27,000,000 tons on the same date in 1916, 28,000,000 tons in 1917 and twenty million tons on June 1, 1920. Calculating that there has been an increase in production, during recent weeks Mr. Spens said today that 35,000,000 tons of soft coal is in storage.

Montgomery Will Go To New York Meeting

F. W. Montgomery of the Madison Street Railway Co. will represent Madison at the conference to be held by the New Yorok State Chamber of Commerce Nov. 166. Mr. Montgomery is the first of three representative business men who have been invited to attend the conference. The remaining two men will be chosen the latter part of the week, it was announced by Don Mowry, secretary of the Association of Commerce today.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Adv.

Love Triumphs After Being Balked for Years; Princess To Marry Mere Lieutenant

Princess Dagmar and her soldier husband, Jorgen Castenschield.

A romance balked for years by the usual matrimonial restrictions of royalty culminated recently in the marriage of Princess Dagmar, youngest sister of King Christian X, of Denmark, and Jorgan Castenschield an ordinary and untitled reserve lieutenant of the Royal Danish body guard. The groom, though untitled has been found to be "of noble birth" because his grandfather was for years Chief Chamberlain at the Danish Court. His marriage to the Princess, however, gives him many royal relatives. He will be a cousin of King George of England, a brother-in-law of King Christian of Denmark and King Haakon of Norway, and a relative of King Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden. The bride is 32 and the bridegroom 28.

Visitors From Belgium Here for Few Days

Prof. and Mme. Pirenne Are Entertained By Rostovtzeffs

A number of functions are interesting Madisonians in today's social news. Professor and Madame Henri Pirenne, of the University of Ghent, in Belgium, are being entertained here at the home of Prof. and Mrs. M. I. Rostovtzeff, 627 Mendota court.

Tuesday a dinner is being given by Prof. Carl Russell Fish, F. L. Paxson and M. I. Rostovtzeff at the Madison club in honor of the distinguished guest and Mme. Pirenne will be entertained at a dinner by Mrs. Rostovtzeff. At 8 o'clock a reception will be given by the history department at the home of Professor Paxson for the Pirennes, to which members of the history department faculty and graduate history students are invited. On Wednesday night, the Rostovtzeffs are giving a small dinner for the guests.

Another important affair of the early week was the dinner held by the Daughters of Demeter, Monday night, in Lathrop hall for members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture. Mrs. J. B. Kommers and Mrs. W. S. Kinne are entertaining today at the home of Mrs. Kommers, and Miss Anna Birge will give a reception for wives of new faculty members and chairmen of departments, Wednesday.

DISCUSS BARRIE AT Y. W.

"One's religion is whatever one is most interested in." So thinks Sir James Barrie, the English playwright. This unique theory was brought out last night by Miss Lelia Bascom in the weekly meeting of the contemporary drama class of the Y. W. C. A. As the most original and fanciful of the modern English dramatists, Barrie's plays offer a wide field of study. Though he began by writing novels, it is through his works for the stage that he became famous and for which he was knighted in 1913. He shuns the publicity that pours in upon him, and there is no name on the doorplate of his home in Adelphi Terrace, London, where he lives on neighborly terms with John Galsworthy and George Bernard Shaw.

Lady Gregory's "The Rising of the Moon" will be the study of the class next Monday evening.

Druesen-Kraft Gland Tonic Restores Merchants' Health

Wasn't Able to Walk. By Strengthening His Glands, Druesen-Kraft Gland Tablets Completely Restored His Strength and Vigor!

"Believing I owe you a testimonial I will tell you and to the world that I have been benefited beyond my greatest expectations by your wonderful DRUESEN-KRAFT (Youth Gland) tablets. Many years ago thru illness I lost my strength and vigor, couldn't climb or do a man's work, had dizzy spells and could hardly raise my feet. I took every possible medicine and was sometimes temporarily stimulated but felt more exhausted later. Finally my doctor advised me to take the new DRUESEN-KRAFT tablets and I ordered from Pearson Drug Co. store No. 5. By the fifth week there was such great improvement, I could climb two flights of stairs. After eight weeks my feet were as nimble as ever, strength and virility returned and I started in business. It has been many months since I started on DRUESEN-KRAFT, and as you see from my photo I am as well as a boy, eat and sleep well without an ache or pain.

Have lived here 30 years, am a prominent "Moose" and can get hundreds of signatures to verify this. Shall gladly answer any inquiries."

(Signed) J. A. Andreas,
903 Georgia St., Indianapolis, Ind.

To keep or regain youthful health and strength your glands must be strong and active! The glands are being weakened every day and thousands of men and women are turning to the DRUESEN-KRAFT gland treatment for a quick, easy and safe way to rebuild these glands and restore vigorous health. Results are permanent, three DRUESEN-KRAFT tablets daily is all that is necessary.

Send for free booklet to DRUESEN-KRAFT LABORATORIES, 56 E. Randolph St., Chicago, Ill. When ordering tablets designate "male" or "female." 1 week's size $1.25.

IT MUST BE DRUESEN-KRAFT TO BE THE GENUINE GLAND TONIC.

Why Teeth Show

In pictures—and everywhere today Millions are removing film

Have you noted how most pictures now show pretty teeth? And how countless people, wherever you look, show beautiful teeth when they smile nowadays?

Those are results of this new way of teeth cleaning, which millions now employ. Now we urge you to try it at our cost, and to start today.

Try combating film

Until late years, nearly all teeth were kept clouded by a film. And 49 in 50 people suffered from film attacks.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. It forms the basis of dingy coats, including tartar, unless you constantly combat it. Stains are absorbed by that film.

It also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus most tooth troubles are now traced to film. And all those troubles were constantly increasing, despite all care of the teeth.

Old ways ineffective

No ordinary tooth paste effectively fights film. In fact, tooth pastes based on soap and chalk even make the film more clinging.

So dental science has for years been seeking film combatants. Two effective methods have been found. Able authorities proved them by many careful tests. And now leading dentists almost the world over advise their daily use.

A new-type tooth paste has been created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. In that tooth paste are embodied those two film combatants—one to curdle the film, one to remove it.

Careful people of fifty nations are now using this new method, largely by dental advice. To millions of homes it is bringing a new dental era.

Two other new effects

Pepsodent brings two other effects which dental science has now proved essential.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

The ordinary tooth paste brings just opposite effects. It decreases these two great tooth-protecting agents which Nature has provided. Pepsodent, with every use, gives them manifold effect.

Thus to millions of people in every clime Pepsodent has brought new beauty, new protection. The benefits will be life-lasting. Tooth conditions among whole races are being altered by this method.

Brings Added Charms and Quickly

You will see the Pepsodent effects, amazing and delightful, after very little use.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

New beauty, new charm, comes with those whiter teeth. Also new safety, new cleanliness. Not by scouring teeth in any harmful way, but by fitting the film for easy removal.

This means too much to you and yours to be longer overlooked. Cut out this coupon now and present it at your store.

Major Griffith Explains Roby Investigation

Also Tells Why He Won't Take Up Case of 'Jab' Murry

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Major J. L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the western conference today explained his reasons for handing the ineligibility case of Milton Roby, Michigan halfback, and his refusal to investigate charges that Donald Murry, disqualified Wisconsin star had violated the conference professional rule.

The question had been raised, Commissioner Griffith said.

"I have an understanding with the ten directors of the conference," Major Griffith said, "that my office will not investigate charges that any conference athlete has violated the amateur rule prior to June 1, 1922 nor act as a medium through which such charges will be handled.

"Before June 1, 1922, only half hearted attempts were made throughout the conference to enforce this rule; consequently the boys had a right to feel that infractions of the amateur rule would be overlooked. At the meeting in June, 1922, the directors agreed that thy would wholeheartedly and honestly enforce this rule in their respective institutions. However, I have refused to consider all of the cases which have come to my office in which sharges were made that conference athletes had engaged in professional athletics before June 1, 1922."

Safe Drivers' Clubs Reduce Accident Toll

Citizens Must Unite in Checking Violations, Says Keown

"Of a total of 1,453 accidental deaths per week in the United States during 1920, 212 were due to automobiles."

This was the statement of R. M. Keown, engineer of the industrial commission, to members of the Technical club in his talk on "The Effect of Safe Drivers' Clubs in the Reduction of Public Accidents" at the Christ Presbyterian church last night.

"While the industrial commission does not collect public accident statistics," declared Mr. Keown, "the comparison between these and industrial accidents is very striking. In industrial accidents alone, 176,000 fatalities occurred in 1920, or approximately a number esual to the population of the state of Nevada. If accident prevention in the United States had been equal to that of England or Wales, 87,000 lives would have been saved.

"Although industrial accidents have shown a marked decrease of recent years, death resulting from automobile accidents have showed an undue increase. The American population is sadly in need of citidenship backing in automobile accident prevention. It is not a problem for merely one group to solve, but everyone must aid in its solution."

The solution as offered by Mr. Keown was the establishment of Safe Drivers' clubs, whereby automobile owners are pledged to eradicate reckless driving and violation of traffic rules. Mr. Keown pointed out the success of this plan as tried out in several large cities and states. "Since the period from 1919 to 1920, Detroit has decreased the number of automobile fatalities from 240 to 134, he said. "Prison sentences have curbed the number of traffic violators from over 300 cases a day to seven or eight."

Harding Will Call Congress Session Nov. 20

President to Summon Members for Special Meeting

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Harding expects to issue a call Thursday or Friday for a special session of congress convening Nov. 20, it was announced today at the white house.

The plan for a special session after the election has received the general endorsement of senate and house leadrs. It is undrstood the president feels that by meeting at least two weeks in advance of the regular session the legislative program can be so advanced as to enable the congress to clean up its slate by the time the regular session ends next March 4.

Ross Says Mexico Is Sick With Alcoholism

"Mexico has a millstone of alcoholism hung about its neck and is at present a sick society," said Prof. E. A. Ross, who spent the summer studying social sonditions in Mexico, in an address before the Lions club this noon.

"The Mexican workmen have dwarfed personalities and they are exceedingly childlike, seeming to lack the force and purpose of American workmen," stated Prof. Ross.

"Revolutionism, lack of education, the power of the church, Spanish traditions, and liquor, have been the chief social ills of the Mexican people," said Prof. Ross. "The government of Obregon is doing its best to cure these ills."

A Clear Complexion

Ruddy Cheeks — Sparkling Eyes Most Women Can Have —

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling all out of sorts inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

Mary M'Swiney Starts Hunger Strike in Jail

Cork Mayor's Sister, Who Spoke Here, Threatens to Starve

Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, is starving herself to death in a British prison, according to dispatches received in Madison today.

Miss MacSwiney spoke in Madison a little more than a year and a half ago to a large audience in the assembly chamber of the capitol. She talked on the Irish cause for freedom and found many sympathizers here. She also addressed a meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom in the auditorium of Father Pettit school while here.

The dispatch says:

"She has been on a hunger strike since she was incarcerated in Mountjoy last Saturday morning. She said tha unless she was released she would die as did her brother, and that she welcomed the opportunity to join him in this way."

Clamp Lid on Auto Parking Chief Warns

Ordinance Violators Face Arrest and Court Actions

Plans to enforce Madison's new parking ordinance are being completed this week by Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy. "No Parking" signs have been ordered by the chief and will be placed on on streets and courts of less than 18 feet in width as soon as they are manufactured.

"Of course we shall have to be a little bit lenient with the violators of the parking ordinance for the first couple of weeks, because of the fact that all of the people of Madison are not as yet acquainted with it," said the chief today.

"The section of the ordinance necessitating the display of a light on a motor vehicle parked in the streets during the night will be strictly enforced, beginning today, that is a rule that everyone has been acquainted with as a state law before it was localized."

Car drivers that are defying the State st. stop rule will be arraigned in court, beginning today, according to the chief.

"This law must be enforced and I am determined to see that it is. I have instructed every patrolman in that section to enforce it and turn in the names of violators. They will be dealt with severely in court the morning afted."

General Hospital Has Good Record

The Madison General hospital is 91 per cent self-supporting, according to a report made to the finance committee and members of the city council who were entertained at luncheon at the hospital Monday night. Dr. H. C. Bradley presided at the luncheon and the business meeting which followed. The institution is in Class A among hospitals of the nation.

Conditions at the hospital were explained to the alderman with improvements made and those planned for the coming year. A tour of inspection with the staff and officers was made by the council.

No meeting of the finance committee will be held at the city halll this evening.

PERIODS OF LIFE

Have You Reached The Age of 40?

People aged 40 or over should guard against colds grippe, influenza and pneumonia. The following symptoms indicate physical decay and lessen your resistance to attacks of colds:

Constipated bowels—Indigestion.
Sour gassy stomach.
Pain around the heart.
Shortness of breath.
Congested liver.
Weak kidneys.

Health, the most precious gift in life, should be carefully watched by everyone. Millions of people today are guarding their health and keeping their nature regulated by using Nature's great Herb Tonic—Bulgarian Blood Tea.

The rich juices brewed from the roots, barks, leaves, herbs, plants and flowers of Bulgarian Herb Tea aid Nature to remove vicious body poisons that are mainly responsible for ill health. Bulgarian Herb Tea is recommended by many physicians as a reliable family medicine and druggists everywhere endorse it as a pure healthful laxative tonic.—Adv.

[illegible] decided whether to be angry or glad to see her here.

"And pray why not I as well as anyone else?"

"Because I thought cats never wandered so far away from home."

"I am not so far as you think. It is only half a mile across fields. While it is a mile by road. I often come over here to see my mother, who lives in that yellow farmhouse you can see on the top of this hill, behind the trees," she explained. "I love to come over here as there are lots of fat field mice in a wheat field I have to cross, and I often get a chance to have a nice young turkey dinner."

"I should like to know who would give you a turkey dinner?"

"No one. I help myself to it. You see, it is this way. They raise lots of turkeys for Thanksgiving up where my mother lives and the old turkeys often steal their nests and hatch a brood in the fields or on the edge of the woods. So when I find one of these turkey hens wandering round with her brood, I just jump on one of her baby turkeys and gobble it up without her seeing me. I hope I shall run across a brood today, for they are most delicious things in the world to eat."

The Ways of A Widow

By Grace Phelps

[illegible] stand between them and injustice.

To Dr. Nelson, as to most men, religion had been a matter of church going to be left to the women of the family. Until Nan had suggested the Rev. Michael as an aid, its value in every day affairs had not occurred to him. But when a man like Andrew Morgan used his religion as a cloak, his very resentment showed him that underneath his indifference to religion was a firm belief that the church had not merely a right but a duty to perform in the community.

Something of this he expressed to the rector and the latter's immediate acquiescence won his regard. It was evident too that the Rev. Michael had no illusions in the matter about the possible consequences to himself. Before he left Mrs. Norton's he had made a copy of the New York expert's analysis and with this in his pocket he prepared to call on his wealthy vestryman.

Announcement was made Sunday noon at the Kappa Sigma house of the recent marriage of Miss Norma Lucile Wood of Kansas City, Mo., to George Lowell Geiger, senior in the Course in Journalism.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CORNSTALKS

Copyright, 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis.)

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, aren't you glad? Aren't you glad?" cried Baby Bunty, as she hopped over to the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman one morning.

"Well, I'm glad it's such a fine day and that the sun is shining, if that's what you mean," spoke Uncle Wiggily, with a twinkle of his pink nose.

"Oh, I didn't zegzactly mean that,," said Baby Bunty, almost stumbling over the hard word. But aren't you glad today is election".

"Oh, is it election; I had forgotten about it," laughed the bunny rabbit. "But I don't know that I am particularly glad. No one is going to elect me President or anything like that."

"Nor me, either!" said Bay Bunty with a smile, "even though girls and women have the vote. But the reason I'm glad is that there isn't any school on account of election day."

"Oh, ho! I see!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Well, as long as I don't have to go to school I don't see why I should be glad when there isn't any."

"I'm glad, though," laughed Baby Bunty, "and you ought to be glad there isn't any school, 'cause when there isn't any I don't have to go—like today—and you can take me adventuring with you."

"Oh, so I am to take you adventuring, am I?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"If you please," spoke Baby Bunty politely. "Will you?"

"Oh, I guess so!" agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Come along, we'll hop over the fields and through the woods and see what happens."

As Baby Bunty had said this was election day, and there was no school. All through Woodland where the animal boys and girls lived, there was happiness and jolly good times.

Baby Bunty thought she was having the best time of any one because she was going adventuring with Uncle Wiggily. The bunny gentleman and the little rabbit girl hopped over the fields and through the woods, looking for adventures, but none could they find until Baby Bunty, all of a sudden, called:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I think one is coming?"

"What is coming?" asked Mr. Longears.

"An adventure!" cried Baby Bunty. "Look, coming over the top of the hill!"

Uncle Wiggily looked and exclaimed:

"That's the Woozie Wolf, Baby Bunty."

"Well, isn't the Wolf an adventure" asked the little rabbit girl.

"Surely enough—so he is!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Come on, we'd better run away from this adventure!

So they started to hop and run, but the wolf, having seen them, came racing after them.

"Oh, what shall we do?" cried Baby Bunty, looking back over her shoulder at the Wolf. "I don't like this sort of adventure! What shall we do?"

"We must find some place to hide," said Uncle Wiggily, for he remembered that though he might be able to hop fast enough to get away from the Wolf, Baby Bunty with her short fat legs could hardly keep up. The Wolf would catch her.

would catch her.

"We must hide!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Where?" asked Baby Bunty. "Where shall we hide?"

Uncle Wiggily looked ahead and saw a field filled with cornstalks which had been cut down and piled into shocks, as they are called. The stalks of corn were dried and were stacked up in piles like little painted tents shaped like giant ice cream cones upside down.

"We'll hide in the cornstalks, Baby Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily. "Quick. Hurry. You hide in one cornstalk tent and I'll hide in the one next door to you!"

Racing ahead of the Wolf, Uncle Wiggily squeezed in between the stalks of dried corn until he was in the middle of a shock. Baby Bunty squeezed into the shock next door to Mr. Longears.

Up came running the Wolf, sniffing and snuffing and snaffing.

"Where are those rabbits?" growled the Wolf. "I saw them here a moment ago and I want to nibble their ears! But they are gone? Where are they?"

Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty, hidden in the cornstalks, heard what the Wolf asked, but of course they wouldn't answer him. Then the Wolf said:

"I believe they're hiding in one of these piles of corn! I'll nose them out!" He thrust his sharp nose inside a pile of cornstalks near Baby Bunty, but not the one where Uncle Wiggily was hiding. Baby Bunty peeked out and saw the Wolf with his back toward her.

All of a sudden Baby Bunty pulled loose a heavy cornstalk, and with it whacked the Wolf over the back.

"Ouch! Wouch! Smouch! Double wow!" howled the Wolf, who didn't see Baby Bunty. "This is no place for me, when cornstalks, all by themselves, whack you over the back. I'm going to run!"

And ran away he did, and then Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty came out of their cornstalk hiding places.

"Oh, what a lovely adventure that was!" laughed Baby Bunty.

"I'm glad you liked it, and you certainly were smart!" said Mr. Longears. And if the blue bird doesn't turn green when he tries to take a bath in the red ink bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's pumpkin lantern.

LARGE HATS, SMALL HATS, ANY SIZE AT ALL IS NEW MODE

Milliners are making some sort of effort to push the small hat into a high place, but so far have only succeeded in making it equal in the race with the large hats. It seems as if every size from the snuggest of wrapped turbans to the hugest of cartwheels were the fashionable mode. Here are three hats which show a small, snug-fitting velvet turban at the left, a slightly larger shape with a small suggestion of a brim at right, and a picture hat, center.

Mrs. Thompson's Advice

Heart and Home Problems

Husband Stays Out Late At Night, Then Leaves Home For Good

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty years old and married. We have two children. My husband got to staying out nights and so when he came home one morning we had some words and he left. I stayed at our home for nearly a week waiting for him to come back, but he didn't come, and so I went home to my folks with the children. He did not leave me any money and I had him taken up for non-support. He told me while he was in jail he would go to housekeeping if I would get him out of it. I did, and when he got out he told me he would live with me in two years if I was good to the children during that time.

If I keep the children I will get $10 a week from him. Do you think it would be better to let him take one child and give me $5 a week. I have nobody to take care of them for me and I can't work if I have both, but I could with only one.

MAY.

Since your husband has proved to be such a irresponsible man, I should think that you would hate to put one of your children in his charge. If you were determined to keep both the children in your care you could find a way. I should think your mother would take them. If she cannot, however, it would be possible to find some kind woman who would keep them during the day time for a reasonable sum of money. Talk the matter over with the judge who decided your case and see if he knows of such a woman.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman about twenty-four years old. I have been married seven years and I have four little children. My baby is two years and nine months old now. I am just crazy for an infant son, but my husband doesn't care for children. I guess it is because he is so much older than I am. Every time I say anything to him about an infant he says we have more than we can say grace over. He is good to me and gives me anything I ask for as far as he is able. I do believe that he loves me. I am in good health and so is he and I don't see why he doesn't love children. His mother was the mother of eight children and my mother was the mother of fourteen. All of my sister's husbands love children and they have from two to six children. Please advise me what to do. I would like to gain his love for children in some way.

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER.

You are already so blessed in having four children, that it seems to me you are unreasonable not to be willing to stop there. Probably your husband loves the four he already has, but dreads the responsibility of increasing his family.

In reality you will have quite enough to do if you devote yourself to your four children. After you have ministered to their material comforts, there is much you can do in a spiritual way. Read to them, play with them, and be their best friend. Try to be a realist instead of an idealist. You think it would be ideal to have a baby son, but while you spend your time thinking and longing for that you are wasting time which might be used to develop the children you already have.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Bacon and Eggs—Take the one item of bacon alone. It is so easy to spoil it in the cooking. Burned bacon, partly burned and underdone are so unappetizing and it is so easy to serve one's meals properly cooked. The secret of being a good cook is not in the ability to prepare a lot of fancy dishes but in the well cooked and appetizing appearance of the most everyday dish—bacon, for instance. Put the evenly sliced bacon into a fairly hot frying pan, and keep the fire under it low, gently pressing the bacon with a fork to try the fat out and to brown it evenly and keep it from curling. If you have a fire in the oven the best way to get your bacon crisp and evenly browned is to put it in a pan in the oven and let it bake. The bacon can then be removed to a hot platter and the eggs fried in the fat according to taste.

Now the Toast—Some people prefer their bread cut thin and toasted crisp, some like thick slices lightly browned and some just medium. Some dainty souls like the crusts removed, but whatever the individual taste may be see to it that the toast is evenly browned and that it is to be served buttered or dry and whether it is made on the good, old fashioned coal or wood range, in a gas broiler, on a gas burner or on the most up-to-date electric toaster.

Snake Acts as Detour Sign on State Street

A huge black snake, five feet long and four inches around, took possession of the center of the sidewalk before the Presbyterian student parish house on Sunday evening and held sway in regal coils.

Young ladies walked by mincingly, giving the despised creeper wide berth; young men hesitated long before they dared antagonize the reptile with a stick, well chosen as to length; little boys stood off wide eyed; and big dogs sniffed slink around the world again. And growing very brave they lifted from a discreet distance.

The crowd about grew large, and a dapper young hero tantalized the attraction with his cane. But the creeper would not be urged. He remained peacefully wound up like a garden hose on a green sward.

Suddenly the crowd realized that the snake had forsaken this life for its particular happy hunting ground and that it would never slink around the world again. And then growing brave, they lifted him on a stick and carried him triumphantly down the street.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.
Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."—Eva Aldrich, 1218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

It is prepared carefully from medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

Railroads Will Give Rates To Press Meeting

U. S. Senators La Follette or Lenroot May Address Gathering Here

Special railroad rates for the 750 members of the Central Interscholastic Press association who will convene in Madison on December 1 and 2 have been promised by officials of the Northwestern and Journal. B. M. Brayton, of Jerome O. Bjerke '24, general chairman of the convention.

Plans to secure special rates from many of the railroads of the middle west are being made, according to Bjerke. Following the receipt of letters from high school editors in all parts of the country, officials of the press association started attempts to gain reductions on fares of roads in all sections of the country. A letter from the editor of the Las Vegas, New Mexico, paper and another from Seattle, Wash., high school paper, stating that representatives would be sent to the convention, were received yesterday.

"I am quite certain that the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul road can make a reduction in its rates to bring the editors here," A. M. Batty, Madison superintendent of the road stated yesterday after he had been told of the numbers which have signified their intention of attending the meet.

"In all probability you will have 1,000 delegates registered at the convention, judging by the present rate of registration. We could easily afford to make rates for them," Batty said.

Scores of letters from the New England states have already reached association headquarters, according to Bjerke. Scores more from schools scattered from coast to coast are expected following the announcement of the program.

Speeches by Prof. S. E. Bastin, of the Medill School of Journalism, John R. Wolf, of the Milwaukee Journal. B. M. Brayton, of the Wisconsin State Journal, and other prominent men in public life are being obtained for the convention, according to Harold E. McClelland '23, director of the association. United States Senator I. L. Lenroot, and Senator Robert M. La Follette, and Governor J. J. Blaine also will be asked to talk.

The program as arranged by the convention officials opens early on Friday morning, December 1, with a sight seeing tour of Madison, the state capital, the university and forest product laboratory. "Go and Get It," a movie of newspaper life, has been secured for simultaneous showing at the Strand theatre.

The convention proper will open at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Fred L. Kildow '23, director of the association, will preside. President Birge of the university will make the welcoming speech. A program of speeches from student officers of the association and from its directors has also been planned.

The afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock will be devoted to a series of round table discussion groups. A total of 30 round table groups will be conducted. There will be five divisions of the groups and two three hour periods for each group will be held.

Special groups for problems of the business administration staff, with sections in advertising, circulation and administration problems in general, and sections for news staffs, editorial staffs, feature staffs, magazine and annual staff problems and miscellaneous sections will be held. Special groups for high school people doing work in women's pages, humorous features and feature sections also will be conducted. Every phase of work in the production of high school publications, including the problems of faculty advisors, will be touched upon.

Every delegate to the convention, together with scores of university professors and students, will attend a banquet in Lathrop hall Friday evening. Members of the association, prominent journalists from daily papers, professors, and student will speak. Senator I. L. Lenroot or Gov. John J. Blaine will be asked to speak.

A general meeting at 8:30 o'clock will open the Saturday sessions. Three high school editors and three high school advisors, probably delegates from papers which won prizes last year, will speak. The process of engraving will be explained by a representative of the Bureau of Engraving, Minneapolis, and type laboratory equipment will be discussed by a representative of a type foundry.

Round table discussions will be held from 10 to 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning. At noon a cafeteria luncheon will be held in Lathrop hall. A round table discussion on editing problems of school papers has been arranged for the afternoon, with a general meeting at 2:30 o'clock.

Announcement and presentation of awards will be made at the general afternoon meeting. Each paper belonging to the association may enter contests for prizes which are offered by newspapers in all parts of the country. The entries have been divided into classes in such a manner that the contest will not be unfair to the smaller schools. Prof. E. M. Johnson will tell why the winners won, presenting the good points of each prize winner and offering constructive criticism on all of them.

The convention will close with a final business session, at which officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

Badger Posts Senior Lists For Checking

Four lists of seniors whose summaries have been filed in the Badger office were posted yesterday at Bascom hall, Agricultural hall, Engineering building and Sterling hall.

All seniors have been requested by the Badger editors to ascertain whether their names are on the list, and if not, to come to the Badger and make immediate arrangements for summaries. All inquiries must be in within the next ten days.

A number of people called Monday to make corrections in the posted lists or to arrange to have summaries filed.

Homecoming Poster Prizes Are Awarded

A silver cup, first prize in the Homecoming poster contest was awarded to Warren Carter '24, by a vote of the judges of the placards. First honorable mention was given to E. R. Wright '25, and Katherine Harrington '25 received second honorable mention. Two high school students, Antoinette Wolf and Allen Lyon received third and fourth honorable mention respectively.

The prize for the best statuette depicting the spirit of Wisconsin went to Kenneth Fagg '23. Fagg's work was a life-size bust of Rolland Williams '23. First place for honorable mention was voted to Mrs. Vera Lee '25, and Eleanor Hanson '25, who worked together on a figure. Three other awards for honorable mention were made to Maysie Stone '23, Henry Ewertz '24, and William J. Fronk '24, in the order named.

The judges were forced to make very careful decisions on the work submitted, according to Herbert Brockhausen '23, chairman of the art committees.

New York Alumni to Give Party Saturday

Official announcements from the New York alumni of the University of Wisconsin indicate that their dinner dance next Saturday evening at the famous Engineer's club will be one of the finest ever conceived by the Wisconsin or any other Western alumni.

Maxsen F. Filmore Ohman, pianist of the original Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra, now appearing at the Palais Royal, and two all-star trios of singers from two noted publishing houses. Miss Stryker was seen in Milwaukee two seasons ago in the California success, "Sunkist."

Returns from the Wisconsin-Illinois game will be read, and other stunts have been arranged to make it the largest social affair ever given in the east by the Wisconsin alumni. Between 300 and 400 alumni are expected to attend.

Plan Sorority Rushing Rules At University

"New rules for sorority rushing are being investigated by a committee," [illegible]red Rieck '24, a member of the local Pan-hellenic society and chairman of the new rushing rules committee, said yesterday.

"Dissatisfaction with the present rushing system is rather general, and we are hoping to establish a better one. The rushing season for the past few years has been unnecessarily difficult both for the sororities and the rushees. Questionnaires have been sent to the various chapters asking suggestions for improvements," Miss Rieck explained.

Employe Partnership a Big Factor In Efficiency

IN its issue of Oct. 1, 1922, the Chicago Tribune says, "In this field (industrial peace) there is much to be hoped for from intelligent effort to induce investment by employes in the industry or business in which they are employed. * * * If the millions that have been lost in ill-advised strikes could have been invested in shares in the enterprise, the workers in many cases would have accomplished the benefits they sought."

The acknowledged efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is due in no small measure to the fact that every employe of the Company, if he will, may become a partner in the business by taking advantage of the stock-purchase-plan. To the amount of stock subscribed for by the employe, the Company gives one-half, and the employe is allowed to pay in small monthly installments. Thus he has an excellent investment which he can watch and help make more profitable.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) employes are insuring through investment, the present well-being and future security of their families, an end which every man is striving to accomplish. These men and women know that the Company is genuinely interested in furthering their welfare. Their energies, therefore, are released from worry over the future and are turned to increased efficiency that comes with enthusiasm.

Whole-hearted co-operation is essential to the conduct of any business. The management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recognizes this fact and believes that no better way to secure this co-operation can be devised than by giving every employe an opportunity to become a partner in the business. The enthusiastic response which the employes have given to this plan proves conclusively that the Company has solved a problem of importance to the Company, the employe, and the public.

There is no idle time nor decreased efficiency due to disputes, discontent, or misunderstandings to be charged into the consumers bills. Every employe of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is delivering full-time and energy to the performance of his task, and this work is to him a pleasure, not a task.

It is submitted that this is another item in that cycle of service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) renders the public.

Badgers Prepare for 'Grudge' Game With Illinois Saturday

Badger Win Over Minnesota Shows Cardinal Strength

After two weeks of anxious waiting and watching by football fans in the middle west, Wisconsin last Saturday showed the world it has one of the strongest teams in the conference by laying low the supposedly strong Minnesota team. Nothing but praise has been heard from the sport writers concerning the speedy Badgers. If Minnesota can beat Iowa, if Ohio State can beat Chicago and if Wisconsin can beat Michigan why—but we'll have to wait.

The showing of the Wisconsin team was not a surmise. It just lived up to the hopes of its supporters.

Overconfidence Dangerous

In Illinois, Wisconsin should not find a stumbling block unless overconfidence creeps into the Badger camp. Overconfidence has more than once spilled perfectly good championship hopes and it can do it again. This case was clearly shown last year when Illinois went through the entire-year without tasting victory and then walloped Ohio State who was on the eve of a conference tie for premier honors.

Certain complications of the past week tend to make the Illinois game next Saturday look as though we were going to be somewhat rough. The Suckers showed something of a weakness last Saturday when they were held to a 6 to 3 victory over Northwestern. Whether that was the best the Illini could do or whether they were saving their strength for Wisconsin remains to be seen.

Michigan Gaining

Michigan continued to reinforce the general knowledge that they have a powerful machine by smothering the Michigan Aggies under a score of 63 to 0. Michigan rests next Saturday and consequently will have two weeks to prepare for the invasion of the Badgers, on November 18. The game with Wisconsin will be the Wolverine homecoming and Coach "Hurry-Up" Yost will do all in his power to make his team produce. In point of middlewest interest the Wisconsin-Michigan game should back the Chicago-Princeton game off the map.

Iowa rested last Saturday and will be all set to meet Coach "Bill" Spaulding's squad from Minnesota. Howard Jones, the Hawkeye coach witnessed the game at Minneapolis last week against Wisconsin and is takigg no chances in losing an opportunity to win the title by permitting the Gophers to ride over him. This game will also be the Haweke Homecoming and granting that Iowa gets an even number of the breaks they should romp off the field with a victory.

Chicago, which was also idle last week-end, will journey to Ohio State. The downtrodden Buckeyes have been working hard these past two weeks in preparation for the Maroon game and it is not at all improbable that the Buckeyes might ride over the Staggmen for a win. Chicago no doubt has the best team but overconfidence may ruin the chance of the Midwaymen.

Northwestern will engage Purdue i what should be one of the most interesting struggles of the week. Although Purdue lost to Wabash by one point they are known to have a fairly strong team and will no doubt give the Purple team a real battle.

Indiana was decisively defeated last Saturday by the powerful Notre Dame squad by a score of 27 to 0. Indiana held both Minnesota and Wisconsin to 20 points so should be able to hand West Virginia a beating next Saturday when those two teams meet in the Hoosiers annual Homecoming.

U.W. Stadium, Planned As World's Greatest, Is Earning Own Way; To be Ready 1930

The long-talked of University of Wisconsin stadium, which will be the greatest college amphitheater in the world, when completed, is "earning its own way."

Rows of white concrete, the partially completed east section of the arena, will be ready for Homecoming guests next Saturday when the Wisconsin football team meets the Illinois eleven.

But the biggest feature of the world's greatest stadium, will be the unique method of paying for it. Instead of erecting a costly structure that would put the school in debt for many years, the financial and building policy has been laid out so that when the last fitting is put in place in 1930, the last dollar of its cost will be in the hands of the school. This will be done by using the gate receipts to pay for the building as it progresses.

The stadium, as final plans show, completed in 1930, will represent the latest ideas in stadium construction. It took years of planning on the part of the best brains of Wisconsin to design the stadium and to lay out a finatcial policy.

The stadium, as fial plans show, is a great horseshoe curve, with row upon row of seats, rising 50 tiers upon one another, and on top of all this there is to be built a superstructure of re-inforced concrete, which will overhang the upper rows of the first deck somewhat like the balcony of a theatre. This superstructure alone will seat more than [illegible].

The style of architecture is old Roman with many round arches, reminding one of the Colloseum of ancient Rome.

The whole will be of poured concrete and it is estimated will have a greater seating capacity than any other college stadium in this country. Yale Bowl is now regarded as the largest athletic stadium in this country, and it has a seating capacity of 68,000 people. The Wisconsin stadium will seat 70,000.

At each of the four extremities high towers will be erected. These will contain offices, but will serve mainly for ornamental purposes. The approaches, which are being [illegible] this fall, are surrounded by [illegible] fence, with red brick posts at intervals.

While embodying all of the best features of the most famous stadiums of America and Europe, it will not have their weaknesses. A close study was made of the Yale bowl, for many years the most talked of athletic amphitheater in this country. It is distinguished for its [illegible] as well as for its peculiar [illegible]. It was the first stadium [illegible] entirely enclosed, [illegible] from a birds-eye view [illegible] oval saucer with high [illegible]. It was looked upon until recently as the most desirable type of [illegible] grandstand that could [illegible].

But after [illegible] study of the bowl type, [illegible] defects became apparent. When [illegible] was going and there were [illegible]000 to 70,000 human beings packed into the [illegible] the ventilation became bad, especially down in the field where the players needed the air most. Furthermore, by closing the field in and sinking foundations all around it, the drainage of the gridiron became defective, and much trouble resulted. In a wet season, it was hard to get the field dry for a game. The Yale bowl is single-decked, and those who sit in the top rows are almost too far from the players to follow the game.

PHILADELPHIA — Charlie White, Chicago lightweight won a popular decision over Robbie Barrett in 8 rounds.

This Fan Knows His Oats, What? Roots For Both

WISCONSIN'S victory over Minnesota on Saturday revealed the final development of the football bug. A man wearing a huge Cardinal W on one arm and a big M on the other, occupied a space in the stands and attracted attention by his wild rooting. He explained loudly that he had attended Wisconsin for two years, then changed to Minnesota, therefore he wore both arm bands. He rooted first for one team and then for another, and finally when Williams broke lose for his 55 yard run and Martineau saved the day by a desperate leap over the interference, the big man got so excited his right arm got into a fight with his left.

Illinois To Use Passes Against Badgers

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—The University of Illinois football squad started practice on Monday on its surprise forward pass game which it intends to use against Wisconsin when the two teams meet at Madison next Saturday.

Steve Coutchie, who booted the two drop kicks that defeated Northwestern last Saturday, 6 to 3, again appeared at quarter back, and it is likely he will take over the same position against the Badgers. Coach Zuppke expressed confidence in him as a result of his good work, and Rune Clark, the regular quarter, probably will not be used for at least three weeks, when Illinois meets Ohio State.

Plan Radio Service For Homecoming Game

The university radio station, W. H. A., is planning to send out radio reports of the Homecoming game Saturday if arrangements can be completed by that time. The station has recently been sending the weather forecast in code and then following each word with the radio telephone, thus allowing amateurs to check their message and to aid them in receiving code messages. E. A. Beane, radio inspector of the ninth government district is expected here sometime during the week end.

Work Delayed on Men's New Swimming Tank

"It will probably be two or three weeks before the swimming tank in the gymnasium will be ready for use," Prof. Guy S. Lowman said last night.

The laying of the tile is nearly complete but after this work is finished a week or two will be required to install the new filter system.

The new tank with its tile floor and sides is a great improvement over the old one, according to Professor Lowman.

Longfellow Soccer Teams Win Again

Monday proved to be another big day for the Longfellow school soccer teams. In a hard fought contest they won from the Brayton 1-0.

The Longfellow Midgets also won their game by a score of 1-0, thereby eliminating the Brayton.

Ticket Sale Question is Made Clear

Hunter Answers Queries Regarding Seats For Home Games

"How does it come that students were given $3 seats for the Indiana game and $2.00 and $1.50 seats for the Illinois game?"

That question has been asked often of Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales, under whose supervision all tickets for athletic contests are sold and distributed, and who is eager to clear up the situation.

"Under the ruling of the faculty, students cannot be charged more than 50 cents for a ticket for any athletic contest," Mr. Hunter said. "The Athletic council has ruled that they may be provided with the $2.50 seats as long as they last and then given the next best seats available.

"However, when the mail orders for the Indiana game were received and it was evident that even the present permanent seats, numbering 14,000, would not be sold, Director Jones authorized us to begin distributing the $3.00 seats on the west side of the field to the students. This was done for the Indiana game but with the demand for $3.00 seats for the Illinois game, it would have cost the university thousands of dollars to have allowed the students to purchase those seats at only 50 cents.

"In filling the applications for tickets, we began at the center of the field for the $3.00 seats, and the nearest seats toward the center for the $2.50 and $2.00 seats, working away from the center at all times.

"We received the applications of 6,908 students for tickets at 50 cents before the supply was entirely exhausted. There are only about 6,000 $2.50 seats in the stands, so that it was impossible to give all students $2.50 seats. Under the contract, 1,000 $2.50 seats were sent to Champaign, for sale to the Illinois partisans, leaving only about 5,000 for us to distribute.

"Then each student was permitted to purchase up to three additional seats at the public rate, and more than 80 per cent of them applied for the four seats together. Thus those who had their applications in earliest soon exhausted the supply of $2.50 seats and then the $2.00 seats and finally had to be given $1.50 seats.

"This condition will prevail until the stadium is completed or until all seats are sold at one price when the first come will receive the best seats. It is impossible to make any distinction as long as the students are permitted to purchase one seat for themselves and three adjacent ones at public rates. In filling the orders in no case did the man issuing the tickets know for whom they were purchased and it was impossible for him to discriminate."

Gibbons And Collins Up Before 'Comish'

ST. PAUL — Mike Gibbons, St. Paul middleweight boxer, and Mike Collins, Minneapolis promoter who have been managing a string of boxers have been temporarily barred from staging bouts by the state boxing commission, it became known today.

Johnny O'Donnell, Mark Moore, Billy Stearns, boxers, also have been barred pending an investigation by the commission of reports of an alleged illegally staged fight card at Albert Lea last Friday night. If Gibbons and Collins are found guilty of the charges they may be kept from putting on bouts in Minnesota for two years and the others would be subject to fines.

Gibbons denied any connection with the Albert Lea affair.

Yost Has Respect For Badger Eleven

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Michigan expects a hard tussle with Wisconsin a week from next Saturday was apparent on Monday when the Wolverines began preparations for that contest.

Coach Yost saw the Wisconsin-Minnesota scrap last week and reports that both teams are to be feared. Asked where Wisconsin was especially strong, he said:

"That's just the trouble, they're strong in everything."

The clubhouse on Monday was placarded with pictures of the Badgers and diagrams of their plays.

Carnival Acts Will Open Homecoming

The first event of Wisconsin's homecoming will be held at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening in the gymnasium, when a vaudeville canival of five snappy acts will be given. Each act will be made up of the most talented performers in the university and tuneful music by dialogue is promised.

Chief among the funmakers is the Haresfoot club, which will give a singing and dancing act. Their program will be full of spirit and pep, and the famous chorus, in which "all our girls are men and everyone a lady" will be there to give several new songs and dances.

The nature of the acts is to be kept secret until the performance so as to make the show more or less of a surprise.

Miss Lorainne Schlaak rolled a new score in the ladies league at the Capitol alleys Saturday night when she hit the pins for 256. The former score was 255 rolled by Mrs. Alex Cobban.

TRENTON, N. J. — Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion, knocked out Jack Hyatt of Battle Creek, Mich., in the second round.

Football Heroes Will Speak At Homecoming Massmeeting On Eve of Illinois Grid Game

Paulie Meyers Will Return To Address Alumni Friday Night

"Paulie" Meyers, Rollie Williams and Gus Tebell, rated among the best Varsity football players ever produced at the University of Wisconsin, have been chosen to speak at the traditional mass meeting on the eve of the 1922 Homecoming battle with Illinois Saturday.

Paul Meyers, now in New York, was one of the greatest ends in the history of the Western conference. Wisconsin students will welcome the chance to see and hear him again. Williams, captain of this year's team, and Tebell, right end, will speak of the team's hopes on the gridiron.

Biggest Homecoming

Homecoming at the University of Wisconsin Saturday will be the stellar event of the football season. More than 17,000 letters, 9,000 more than in any previous year, were sent to former Wisconsin men in all parts of the United States.

Enthusiasm has been stirred up throughout Wisconsin and neighboring states by Union Memorial workers which could not have been created by a mere form letter. Thousands of alumni and former students are feeling the pull of the old school spirit as never before, and will make every effort to be in Madison Saturday for the kickoff when the Badgers, led by Rollie Williams, will fight to humble Illinois.

New Bleachers Erected

Already, according to Paul Hunter, director of ticket sales, practically all of the seats at Camp Randall have been sold. The old wooden grandstand which burned last June and which seated 5,000 has been replaced by concrete, with a capacity of about 8,000. These additional seats, with the temporary bleachers at the ends of the field, will accommodate the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a football game at Camp Randall.

Paulie Meyers

The Wisconsin cross-country team will compete with Chicago the day of the game at 11 o'clock. The meet promises to be a good one and the Wisconsin men feel confident that they can repeat their victory of last year, when six Wisconsin men crossed the finish line before the first Chicago man came in.

The mass meeting before the game will have as speakers Prof. J. F. A. (Sonny) Pyre, a former Wisconsin fotball star; Prof. Carl Russell Fish, who has spoken at these meetings for years; Paul Meyers, Rollie Williams, Gus Tebell, Coach John R. Richards.

Harriers Set for Meet With ChicagoSquad

Mead Burke Confident After Win Over Gophers

With the business of beating the Minnesota cross country team successfully completed, Coach Mead Burke of the Badger harriers is bending his efforts toward keeping his men in condition to repeat the performace against Chicago when that team comes to Madison next Saturday.

"If the men run against Chicago as they did against Minnesota, they will beat the Maroon harriers easily," said Burke last night. "The men are in excellent condition as was shown by the ease with which they won over the Gophers on their five mile course."

Records thus far this season show that Wisconsin will have the edge in the race Saturday. Of the Chicago team, there is only one, Capt. Krogh, who is greatly feared by the Badger runners. He is a man of much experience and will probably push the Badgers for first honors.

If possible, eight men will be run by each team in the race. Of Burke's squad, eight men have showed up particularly well, and the coach wishes to run them all in the race.

Rossmeissel, after being left home when the team went to Minneapolis Saturday, entered the intercollegiate race over the local course and established a new record for the course. He will probably be the eighth man to run Saturday.

Other men who will run are: Tschudy, Wade, Veilely, Moorhead, Schneider, Ramsey and Perry.

LONDON—Dick Smith of England beat George Cook, Australian heavyweight, in the 15th round of their scheduled 20 round bout. Cook's seconds threw a towel in the ring.

Roundy Says:

You Hear a Lot About The Michigan Line But Below And Smith Will Be Quite Well Known At Ann Arbor Late In The Afternoon Of Nov. 18th

As I strolled into the Curtiss hotel after supper at Minneapolis Friday I ran into Richards sitting on a couch with that famous pipe of his in action for fare-you-well. After he shot off three or four smoke screens he finally saw me. He called me over and we sat and talked an hour. Sometimes about football, other times about Bob Duncan and my new suit; and about Wisconsin's poor line.

* * *

Here is a little football history against that Minnesota line. Richards started two men on the right side of the line that never played in a conference game before and never had varsity experience before either, and they got an even break for the afternoon. The men were Smith and Biberstein and then Richards sent in another green man in Bieberstein's place in the second half in Sykes who played a bang up game. Smith and Sykes in the second half tore holes in the Minnesota forward wall.

* * *

Here is "Marty" Below in his first game of varsity football in the line. He played left tackle and what he did to that great lineman McDonald of Minnesota was a shame. He knocked about three tackles out in the last half and fresh ones were sent in often to buck against Below but the big curly haired boy stood out head and shoulders above any green lineman that I ever saw in a moleskin representing a Cardinal uniform. Hohlfeld, Wisconsin left guard, played a whale of a game. His tackling was so fierce that the Minnesota backs were taking time out often when they got hit by Hohlfeld, the fighting Badger.

* * *

You hear so much about the great Michigan line. It can not be penetrated by a football team in the country. But I can say this much, that Below and Hohlfeld will be a well known pair in Ann Arbor on Nov. 18. Take my tip folks, these two birds are regular football linemen, besides having the fight, they have football brains.

* * *

This column called every turn of this game two days ahead of the kickoff who would star for Wisconsin what Williams and Barr would do. Telling you about Smith and Below what they would do and what Irish the great Badger end would do and exactly just what Taft would do. If you get last Thursday's and Friday's papers you will see that I called every turn correct that took place on the field.

* * *

The biggest crowd that ever stood in front of the Times office, got the reports here Saturday. Street cars and autos had no chance in the world to get by the howling mob on King street. When Tebell made that touchdown the street they say became a mass of flying paper and caps and coats and when Williams scored the crowd fought and pushed and shoved to get up to the square in the open. One man drove his car in the crowd about 1:30 and he tried to get out right after the first time he could turn a wheel in the mob was about 4:45.

* * *

Shorty Barr used rather good judgment and his pass to Tebell was a bear. Barr was the coolest man I ever saw step back of a center: he strode around the field like a General at West Point, nothing to worry him and if you ever saw a man handle punts like Barr on that kind of a day you saw something you would never forget. I said Barr would be a star in this game and a star he was. He caught 9 punts in a pinch that a miss on any one of them would have meant victory for Minnesota. Barr saw that the ball was wiped off with towel every time before Taft was allowed to kick.

* * *

When that new fresh ball was put in play in the second half, Barr and Williams examined it very closely in mid field and soon after every Minnesota player thought that it was raining football to their goal when "Shorty" uncorked some passes that will gain against any football team in the world if Barr is on the passing end.

* * *

Some fan on the hay on the sidelines stood at Richards' side to a great extent and he accused Richards of coaching from the bench, and he also uttered other remarks that were uncalled for. I do not know if he was sent for a goat getter, anyway he got on Richards' nerves and the result was this. Richards arose from his seat and uttered some words to the man and saw that he was ushered out. It was seen from the press stand that the short talk was to the point from the way the fellow strolled out to the fence.

When Tebell ran for that touchdown, it would never have been made without some fine interference from "Pat" Smith, the lineman. Tebell would have been stopped on about the 7 yard line. Anyway Smith hit two Minnesota tacklers on the 10 yard mark. That sure was a neat piece of work to help Tebell get over dragging only two on his shoulders where he would have had four to get away from before. Richards was delighted with that point of play by Smith.

* * *

Talking about sending in subs. Minnesota sent in 9 subs in the last half. I mean to tell you folks that the Wisconsin interference was hitting them hard. In all my days I never saw better blocking of ends than Wisconsin was doing in that last half. Michigan has no better ends than Ecklund and Scholl of Minnesota. If you can get them out of the play you then can get any end in the country out of a play.

* * *

Minnesota had all their backs and ends appear on the field in the second half in old clean uniforms. They had the appearance of being used in 1900 but Irish and Tebell on punts had them outfits looking rather bad when they hit the receiver of punts. Minnesota was not showing their numbers on their jerseys to conference rules either. They were hard to make out before they ever got mud on them and some you could not make out with field glasses from the press stand. While Wisconsin numbers stood out in big white type according to hoyle and it made it a fair shake for the cash customers.

* * *

Minnesota did a lot of holding in the line and one Minnesota player tried to tell Schomer that he went blind. The result was Schomer said, Another word from you and this ball will go right down to the Minnesota two yard line and a first down for Wisconsin will also be added to it. A pin could be heard around there drop for a few minutes. I heard from men who took part in the game.

* * *

The Wisconsin team could hardly get to the dressing room after the game due to the fact of playing in that mud and water for two hours and a half. If there ever was a team that fought more gallantly against odds than the Badgers did in that game, I never saw them in action on a football field. At whistle time no player ran off that field take it from me. They dragged along as if stunned and their legs were so weak that the gym seemed 100 miles away as one player told me.

* * *

Wisconsin started five linemen in that game who never played in a conference game before. You talk about teaching football to linemen, Wisconsin has the best line coaches in the football game east or west. Then add two more men in the second half who never played in a varsity game before in the line or any other place.

* * *

The odds that I saw on the boards at Minnesota were 10 to 6 that Michigan beats Wisconsin and you can get odds that Michigan and Chicago both beat Wisconsin. That was the way the board carried the bets Saturday morning—chances are Sunday morning the story was different.

* * *

Kipke, the Michigan flash in the backfield has not a thing on this bird Martineau of Minnesota. He can do everything that a half back is supposed to do and then some. He is about on a par with Williams in the open and can back up that line to a queen's taste and is a fairly good punter. Take my tip, Martineau can play halfback on any football team in America and be a star. I would not want to have a roll of greenbacks on a football game and see him play on the other side, so take my tip, folks, this bird is the star of that Minnesota outfit and he and Williams in one backfield on the same team would beat the world.

* * *

The line will need a lot of polishing up as yet before we beat Michigan. They were off side time after time Saturday of course. Ass of Minnesota had a trick that helped them do it a lot—he was called on it in the second half and the offside stuff was all-off. The Michigan line will have it all over the Minnesota outfit and tackling in the open will have to be taught up to a great extent to the team also. Martineau ran back punts away too far and that will have to be stopped or Illinois will do some damage here. Just because the team beat Minnesota is no reason that any players on the team should get chesty about it and think they are rather good. They have all the chance in the world to show how good they are as yet against Illinois, Michigan and Chicago.

* * *

They ran Eagleberger in the game in Williams' place. He is as fast as Williams but he will run every time for that side lines—he will not cut in. He can run for five minutes and not gain a yard. If the goal post were on the side line Eagelberger would score a million points. Minnesota had their tongue out trying to catch him but he still did not get anywhere. He sure can out run any football player in the west. If he ever learns to cut in, "good night."

Both Schools Out for Decisive Win; Wisconsin Favored

Capt. Williams and Men Anxious to Avenge Statements by Huff That Coach Richards Was Unethical in Protesting Illinois Players; Cardinal Team is Not Too Confident

By BRYN GRIFFITHS

THE much press agented grudge fights, boxing matches, wrestling bouts and other would-be hard boiled forms of sports will have to take a back seat next Saturday when Illinois and Wisconsin meet at Camp Randall in the biggest "grudge" event the sporting world has ever had an opportunity to witness. Wisconsin, angered over Illinois protesting "Jab" Murry, tackle, because of alleged breaking of conference rules, certainly sprung a surprise in the football world by filing protests against five Sucker players. They are charged with violating conference rules. Statements made by Director Huff, head of the Illinois athletic department, reached Madison and Coach Richards' proteges reading them in local papers are out to even the score next Saturday by handing the Illini its worst defeat of the year.

The Badgers are far from overconfident, although they will enter the game Saturday heavy favorites. Capt. Williams and his men realized long ago that Zuppke has primed his team for this game as Richards' has developed teams during the past three years that copped from the Sucker school. It is up to Zuppke to come across with a win over the Badgers this year if he wants to remain in the good graces of the alumni and student body at the school.

The recent charges hurled into the Illinois camp by Wisconsin that five Sucker players are ineligible has also caused an ill feeling toward the Badgers and when the two schools clash, fans will see a game that will be an ideal homecoming attraction.

Coach Richards worked his men Monday and although many of the men are nursing bruises received against the Gophers there is expected to be a strong Cardinal eleven on the gridiron Saturday.

The work of the Wisconsin line was as big and pleasant a surprise to the Badger rooters as anyone could have wished to see. Going onto Northrop field the underdog—Minnesota being the favorites 10 to 8, Richard's forward wall outplayed Spaulding's line. This was apparent from start to finish.

Although Gopher backs made big gains around the ends of several occasions, Tebell and Irish must be given credit for the games they played. It was not until Tebell or Irish were smeared by two or three Gophers that the mighty Martineau could get away for gains around the ends. Although the Gopher star gained much territory at times it should also be remembered that on numerable occasions he was thrown for big losses and often hit a stonewall. There were six successive times in the first half that Martineau was either thrown for a loss or failed to gain.

Coach Fielding Yost, Michigan coach, sat in the press box at the Minnesota game and was kept busy making diagrams of the Badger forward pass formations, taking notes, and trying to figure out a way to stop Rollie Williams and the rest of the backfield from getting away at Ann Arbor November 18.

Eagleburger, back who got in the game in the last quarter demonstrated that he isone of the fastest men that has donned the Cardinal in many years. He circled the ends in great style but didn't succeed in getting very large gains. With more experience in conference games Eagleburger is going to cause a lot of worry to opposing teams.

Grid Penalties to Be Marked on Scoreboard

Numbers designating the penalties called in the Illinois-Wisconsin game next Saturday will be raised on the score board immediately after each penalty is called to enable confused spectators to know exactly for what reason a team is penalized.

Forty-one of the more important penalties have been compiled by the athletic department and will be published in the Homecoming Athletic Review. The spectator, by comparing the number posted on the score board with the penalty number in the Review, will be able to know at all times the why and wherefore of the penalties called.

Yost Won't Give Williams Credit But Jones Does

WHEN Capt. Williams battered, squirmed, pivoted, and tore his way through Minnesota's line Saturday afternoon for Wisconsin's second touchdown of the game there many remarks made in the press box regarding the sensational piece of work.

About the most interesting were those of two important coaches in the "Big Ten". Fielding Yost, Michigan mentor said:

"He should hav been tackled easily. If the Gopher line had known what to do Williams would never have gotten awaylikethat. Wisconsin did not deserve the score."

Coach Howard Jones, Iowa coach, speaks:

"That certainly was a pretty piece of work—in fact, it was one of the best short runs I have ever seen as long as I've been coaching football. Williams certainly deserves a lot of credit."

Here you are, fans. What do you think about it? Yost says Rollie shouldn't have scored, and Jones credits him for his brilliant playing. Coaches are funny, are they not?

Gym Team to Plan Big Year; Eleven Report

Badgers Expected to Come Out on Top This Season

Eleven men are working out three times a week in the gymnasium in preparation for a big year on the gym team. The men are working under a handicap in that Coach Schlatter is absent and no other man has ac yet been procured. There seems small probability of getting another, since it would be necessary to go outside of Madison to procure a man to fill the bill. At present the men are reporting to Manager Leitz.

The team has been weakened considerably by the graduation of Elmer Kletzein, captain of last years team. Another loss which the team will feel will be in Edison Boerke who will be graduated in February.

Dean Kitchen, captain of this year's team, should put up counters for Wisconsin. He has held the championship in tumbling for the past two years, and there seems to be no one in the conference who can take the crown away from him. Walter Porth seems to be as good as last year. If he comes up to his last year's standard of capturing firsts and seconds, we will have another strong man. Frank Kubosch, perhaps one of the best men on the squad, will be another contender for conference honors. Ineligibility kept him from competition last year.

The eleven men who are working out are Captain Dean Kitchen '23, M. E. Hansen '23, W. L. Porth '23, F. L. Bumer '23, T. E. Stevens '24, N. Koch '24, W. Hamman '24, F. W. Kubosch '23, W. E. Pfleger '23, Al Thompson '25, and F. C. Whitehead '24. The two latter men are fencers.

There is a conference meet scheduled with Ohio State but as yet there is no date set. There are two tentative dates, one with Minnesota and another with Chicago. The team wants two other meets.

"With last year's team practically intact and barring accidents, there is no reason why Wisconsin should not come out on top," Manager Frank Leitz said yesterday.

Athletic Board Buys Grid Graph For Gym

The grid graph which was used for the first time last Saturday to report the Minnesota game play by play to students assembled in the armory here has been purchased by the Athletic board at a cost of $562.50 from the firm of Powell and Howenstein, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Almost every other school in the conference has a similar graph." Frank Nickerson, assistant to the chairman of the Physical Education department, said yesterday.

About 1,800 people were at the meeting in the gym Saturday afternoon, all of whom shouted in approval when asked by George Walstead '25, whether they liked the grid graph and wanted it used in the future.

Black Earth State Bank Erects New Home for Prosperous Community Business

Institution Finds Old Home Too Small for Growing Needs

Handsome Interior Arrangements Provide For Comfort of Patrons; Building Has Latest Safeguards

Among the banking institutions which have found their quarters too small for the expanding business of a growing community was the Black Earth State Bank, which has just completed a modern structure near the site of the old building.

The exterior of the building is of the latest stone and brick construction. To the left of the main entrance is a waiting room which is furnished with comfortable settees, chairs and writing tables where patrons may transact their business with the same comfort as if they were in their own home. A long check desk is also placed in this rooms where neat receptacles for blank checks, deposit slips and bank literature are provided. To the right of the entrance is a consultation room with the cashier's desk and back of this is the main work room extending back to the wall. A telephone booth and safety deposit box room are also located on this floor.

In the back of the building on the right side is the director's room and immediately beyond this are the toilet and wash rooms. A ladies' rest room is situated to the left of the director's room.

Ample heat and light will be provided by a steam heating plant and seven three hundred candle power lights in dome shaped fixtures installed according to plans recommended by engineers to give the best available lighting facilities.

Fixtures throughout the building are all of birch and walnut. Two windows for tellers and a bookkeeper will enable the cage men to handle the largest crowds with a minimum loss of time.

The most important part of a bank, of course, is the vault and the architects have here provided for absolute safety and impregnability for the customer's money and valuables. It is made of solid concrete with walls fifteen inches thick reenforced with steel wire netting a quarter of an inch thick. The doors are of two inch steel and they weigh about 4,000 pounds. Back of the doors is a grill gate, which automatically locks after a party has passed into or out of the vault and any attempt to open it without the combination will sound an alarm.

A vault in the basement as large as the main vault upstairs and will be locked by the doors, which have been on the vault of the old building. Records only will be kept in this vault.

The corridors of the new bank are all trimmed with white marble which gives the interior a smart setting of luxury and prosperity.

K. C.'s to Bring Collins Here For Talk Nov. 20

Peter W. Collins, industrial expert and lecturer on sociological-economic problems, will appear at the Central high school auditorium on Monday evening, Nov. 20, at 8:00 p. m. in a free lecture to which the public is invited. His subject will be: "The Enemy at the Gate." This lecture is given under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

As Director Geneарl of K. of C. reconstruction and employment work after the war, Mr. Collins had charge of the functioning of the K. of C. system that placed 300,000 former service men back in civilian employment. In his lectures Mr. Collins will deal with the potentialities for social disorders in the world.

The pilgrimage of members of Holy Redeemer church to Holy Cross cemetery was scheduled for Sunday, but was postponed on account of the heavy rain, and will be held next Sunday afternoon, weather permitting.

SILK VELVET IS ARISTOCRAT OF FABRIC FAMILY

Silk velvet, the aristocrat of the fabric family, is always favored for dress wear. This formal afternoon gown is made of black silk velvet with embellishments of antique lace and ribbon. Note the colonial slippers of patent leather with their huge cut steel buckles.

MILK PRODUCERS TO DISCUSS MEANS OF CUTTING COSTS AT ANNUAL MEET

Two thousand delegates from thirty states will discuss ways and means of cutting costs of milk distribution when the National Milk Producers' Federation holds its sixth annual meeting in Springfield, Mass., November 9-10. Prominent figures at the convention will be Hon. Milo D. Campbell of Coldwater, Mich., president of the federation; Robert W. Balderston of Philadelphia, secretary of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association; D. G. Harry of Pylesville, Md., president of the Maryland State Dairymen's Association, and Hon. Herbert Myrick of Springfield, Mass., veteran farm journal publisher.

MADISON'S FOURTH COMMUNITY
Music Memory Contest

Conducted under the auspices of the Madison Community Music Committee

A movement to increase the knowledge of good music through learning to recognize from hearing twenty-four of the best musical compositions. Four are assigned to each of six weeks. At the end of the period, a contest is held, in which parts of the compositions are played and the listeners attempt to write down the titles and composers. This year in evaluating the papers, no additional mark will be given for correct spelling.

SELECTION NO. 15

Pomp and Circumstance March No. 1 by Edward Elgar (born near Worcester, England, 1857; still living.

A Picture Realized

A march for the coronation of the king! The picture suggested by this statement is adequately exemplified in the brilliant and stately music of this regal march by the great English musician.

England's Best

Sir Edward Elgar is the leading English composer. He has written almost every type of music from mystical interpretations of church doctrines to noble settings of ancient stories of warfare; from charming songs for solo voice or small group up to great, involved choral masterpieces; from violin concertos to massive symphonies.

A Concert March

Although elaborately scored for use in the concert-hall, this splendid composition is regular enough in its rhythm so that it has frequently been used for stately processionals. This is the first of two marches bearing the same name. It was first performed in 1901, during the festivities incidental to the crowning of King Edward VII. It became instantly popular, both in England and abroad. Its trio—the name usually given to the second or contracting section of a march—is so song-like that it was soon adapted to words, which have practically made this into another British national anthem. The listener can easily fit them to the playing by the record. They are as follows:

"Land of hope and glory, mother of the free,
How shall we extol thee, who are born of thee?
Wider still and wider shall thy bounds be set;
God who made thee mighty, make thee mightier yet!
God who made thee mighty, make thee mightier yet!"

Hunting for Treasures

As is always the case with a fine composition, careful study constantly reveals new beauties. The themes are striking in their contrast—the main one, hustling and hurried; the other, in the trio, broad and contained. The trumpets are particularly effective both when they play the melody and when they punctuate or adorn it with little flourishes.

Elgar has used very simple melodic material developing this march. The introductory passage contains four tones repeated, followed by the two tones above in the scale. The main sprightly theme is built upon four descending tones of the scale. The theme of the trio first appears in the lower register and is then transposed an octave higher with brilliant effect.

This march is recorded on Columbia, No. 6164 and Victor No. 35247.

Coroner Holds Lilly's Death Is Accidental

Inquest Into Madison Man's Death Dropped By Winona Officials

George Butler Lilly, Madison insurance salesman and former student at the university, who was found dead on the Northwestern tracks at Stockton, Minn., early Saturday morning, met his death by accident, according to a decision reached by the coroner and sheriff of Winona. No inquest was called because of the abundance of evidence proving that the victim died under the wheels of a train.

An atmosphere of mystery no longer surrounds the accounts of Lilly's death. Possibilities of robbery and murder have been put aside by the logical explanation of the accident offered by the six men who started with Lilly on the fatal trip to Minneapolis for the Wisconsin-Minnesota game.

BOARD MEETS

The quarterly meeting of the state board of vocational education, postponed from October, will be held Nov. 15 at Menominee. A successor to Dr. L. D. Harvey as president of Stout Institute will be named. One of the candidates for the position is John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, now a member of the board.

COLLECT $1,179

A total of $1,179.91 was collected Saturday through the "Forget-Me-Not" tag sale, for the aid of disabled war veterans. The sale was directed by E. O. Pagenkopf, general chairman and member of the local branch of the veterans' organization. About 100 women and girls aided in the sale.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma neuralgia, headache, congestion pleurisy rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises chilblains frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia). 35c and 65c jars and tubes.

Forest Service Helps Alaska Says Expert

Bureau Agent Reports Plan Is Great Help To U. S. Reserves

That there is a growing appreciation of the work of the Forest Service in Alaska is the opinion of L. T. Markwardt, who has recently returned to Madison from an extended trip through that country. Mr. Markwardt was sent by the Forest Service in order to obtain reliable data and woods for testing the mechanical properties of wood grown in the United States.

The policies and aims of the Forest [illegible] are becoming better [illegible] according to Mr. Markwardt, and the people are [illegible] that the National Forests [illegible] development and use and [illegible] merely "reserves."

That the work of the Forest Products Laboratory here is well worth while was shown clearly by the [illegible] that the results of the research [illegible] shipping containers conducted [illegible] is known as far north as Cordova and Prince William Sound. The problem for railroad timber, [illegible] Alaska, as in the United States, [illegible] durability. At present there are [illegible] plants in use.

Belgian Prof Speaks Today At University

Prof. Henri Pierenne to Talk on "Mohammed And Charlemagne"

"Mohammed and Charlemagne" will be the subject of an address by Professor Henri Pierenne of the University of Ghent, Belgium, who will speak in Bascom hall at 4:30 o'clock today.

Professor Pierenne is president of the International Congress of Historians, which will meet at Brussels, Belgium in April of next year. Professors Carl Russell Fish and M. I. Rostovtzeff are making plans to represent the university at the conference.

All the large universities and colleges will be visited by the professor, who is travelling through America on an extensive tour with his wife. Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Chicago and California are among the universities included in the professor's visit.

Tuesday evening 20 covers will be laid at a stag dinner party at the Madison club. Professors Carl Russell Fish, M. I. Rostovtzeff, and F. L. Paxson will be hosts. A small dinner at the Madison Club honoring Mrs. Pierenne will be given at the same time by Mrs. M. I. Rostovtzeff.

Following both functions, there will be a reception honoring Professor and Mrs. Pierenne at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Paxson, Van Hise avenue. All the faculty members of the history department, their wives and graduate students of the history department will be guests.

Wednesday evening the professor and his wife will be entertained at a small formal dinner at the Madison club.

Woman's Story May Show Shields Was Murdered

MOSCOW — The police at Simbirsk who are investigating the disappearance three weeks ago of Philip J. Shields, American Relief worker are holding a woman who told them that late on the evening of Oct. 18, she saw two men lugging a sack from which two human legs protruded. This information was received here by Col. Wm. N. Haskell, head of the American relief forces.

The authorities arrested the woman in the belief that she was an accessory. They declare the chances are that Shields was murdered.

Some Telephone Calls

THE Capital Times is beginning to receive telephone calls, anonymous and otherwise, concerning its present crusade against moonshine conditions here.

One woman told a particularly sad story.

A little 15-year-old girl refused to go to school longer. When asked for the reason, she replied that every Monday morning the name of her father appeared in the Madison newspapers for being in court on a drunk and disorderly charge. Each week the father managed to connect with moonshine and end up in police court. The little girl could not stand the eyes and looks of her companions at school and she wanted to quit.

• • •

ANOTHER call tells of a young man who came from an eastern school to spend his vacation in Madison during the past summer. He was a fine athletic fellow—a member of the crew at one of the big eastern universities. While here in Madison, he came in contact with moonshine and contracted the habit. This fall he left Madison a shaking wreck.

The same telephone call advised that another student here this summer nearly went blind drinking moon.

• • •

"WHY are you picking on the poor dagoes? Why don't you get after the bootleggers who are hanging around one of the big downtown hotels?"

This is another piece of advice that came to The Capital Times over the phone. That many young girls have become drunk in the company of men in this hotel during the past year was the theme of the phone conversation.

"How do the sleek and prosperous looking fellows who are always hanging around this hotel make their living—they never work?" was another query.

The further charge is made that these men openly solicit Madison men for orders for booze.

• • •

ANOTHER phone call advises us to look into the taxi-cab situation. The statement is made that taxis are being used here in moonshine running business. It is stated further that many taxi drivers know where moon can be obtained and that they drive prospective customers to these locations for a consideration.

• • •

WHEN will local authorities begin to clean up this evil?

Light the Dome!

THIS is Homecoming Week.

On Friday, thousands of people will begin streaming into Madison for the big game on Saturday. Madison should be anxious to make the visit of the thousands who are coming for Homecoming a memorable one.

Madison merchants and the student sections will use decorations lavishly. The cardinal will be floating in the breezes everywhere and thousands of electric lights will be shooting forth the varsity colors.

What about the capitol dome? With all the color and fire everywhere else will the stately capitol be shrouded in darkness? Light the capitol dome Friday night!

And, by the way, why not light the dome every night beginning Friday night. There is no extra coal needed to keep the dome lighted. Why keep Wisconsin's beautiful capitol building looking like a huge coal pile every night?

CAUSES OF UNREST

Signing for two tons of coal that have come in a one-ton truck.

Trying to eat the toast that comes under the mushrooms in a cafe.

Being obliged to trade in the flivver in order to get a new tire.

Being invited to a dry party and having them talk nothing but liquor.

Trying to find place to mail square package wife has wrapped up.

Getting into a taxicab and finding that the clock is out of order.

Voice of the People

THE ZONING ORDINANCE

[To the Editor]—The Common Council is about to pass a zoning ordinance for the city of Madison. The ordinance provides for dozens upon dozens of zones and classifications. The right of the ordinary land holder who holds the ordinary warranty deed without conditions are to be circumscribed in these dozens of dozens of ways although there is no pretence of reasonable grounds, such as a nuisance, fire protection, safety or public health. At least ninety per cent of the citizens do not know what this is all about, although ultimately it will materially affect all of the property holders and indirectly all of the renters. A few of the citizens who wish to create and maintain exclusive zones where the common laboring people will not intrude and a few real estate men who will be able to take an extra commission out of their patrons through the operation of the details, technicalities and intricacies of the law, know all about this zoning ordinance.

If the Council want to change our land laws why not do so in a way that will benefit the ninety per cent. For instance, the land fronting the Square, exclusive of all improvements, has more than trebled in value in the last twenty years, from $2,000,000 to nearly $7,000,000. It constitutes more than 1-10 of all land values in the City of Madison, but is assessed in the names of only fifty different parties, or 1-8 of 1% of the population. The 90% who buy their groceries, clothing, shoes, etc. on the Square and pay their lawyers, doctors, dentists, etc. who have offices on the Square pay, indirectly, the rental on this excess land value of $5,000,000.00, amounting to $300,000.00 annually. This is only $7.00 apiece for 40,000 people or $30.00 a family. However, they are getting no more service with the frontage $2,000.00 a front foot on this four acres of land than they did with the frontage $500.00. Of course, this 1-8 of 1% who hold 10% of the land values are in favor of the proposed zoning ordinance or anything that will camouflage the real issue. But, then, as a matter of fact, the average worker is so in love with his one chance in eight hundred of getting something from his fellowmen for nothing through the "rise in land values" that he is not greatly interested in abolishing the system that is a sure loss to him. That is why the Council is going to pass the propozed zoning ordinance and let land values continue to "rise."—Milo P. Pinkerton.

NEW POLITICAL ALIGNMENT

[To the Editor]—Will the American bankers and their allies the American politicians fall for Frank Munsey's suggestion of amalgamation?

Will they look their mutual situation frankly in the face as Munsey does?

Will they acknowledge to the world that there is nothing any longer to American national politics but conservatism tinctured with pseudo-liberalism?

That the America voter is now being duped and doped by his campaign orators?

No, No! Munsey is an amateur as a politician, however adept he may be as a banker and publisher; he is naive. He reminds us—as he will the political masters—of Alice in Wonderland, as he beholds for the first time what has been for a decade apparent to all observers in politics—and frankly tells it. He has let out the great political cat that every politician has been zealously guarding, and all the bi-partisans of the country will hasten to return her to the bag.

Yes, indeed, what is needed is the trustification and the ossification, under the shibboleth and sentiment of republicanism and democracy, of every bulwark of property rights against those of human rights.

So, whether or no Munsey's appeal finds favor in his own two parties, let the American voter take with greatest seriousness the crucial facts he so effectively states. And let them join with him in writing the new political program:

First, make the Rep.-Dem. party call itself the Conservative Party.

Second, set up the name Liberal as the name of the party of Progress.

Third, define the issues so vaguely stated by Munsey clearly and positively, and along lines indicated by him, to wit, property rights and human rights.

Let the great wealth, prosperity, and monopoly of the country stand forth and be analyzed as to its service of the classes and the masses.

At least we may develop clean cut issues. Munsey has officially dropped the mask of hypocrisy from partisan professions. He has in general and in terms, discounted and ridiculed the campaign orators' cant. He say let's get down to business and defend our real proposition—that of upholding property rights against the despoilers— the radical elements.

Munsey is fair, honest and brave. Whether he is practically wise and whether his honesty has placed him in hot water is interesting as a question, and this question is that of defense of things as they now stand in the statecraft of the nation.

The Liberal Party has an answer to this question, and it is not the answer of radicalism, but that of liberalism and progressivism, which are the only elements of true conservatism. It challenges the paternalistic conservatism of Munsey and his parties and their ceaseless "opposition of force with force", their strikes, wars, and panics, their concentration of industry, appaling wealth and appaling poverty, their upbuilding of billionaires, that peoples may have a hectic prosperity.

The new Conservative party may readily be shown to be entitled to a hyphen and the word "Opportunist" added, and this the Liberal party is eager to show up.

If Mr. Munsey has accomplished that most difficult task of defining real issues and getting them before the American voter where they may actually be debated, he has (unwittingly, I fear) rendered his country a service unprecedented in its portent.

Let me predict that no such thing as Munsey advocates will happen as the voluntary act of the old parties, such a situation must be forced on them by revolt from the conditions their corruption and conspiracy, as confessed by Munsey, will have produced.

The wisacres of his parties will veritably hit the ceiling at the Munsey suggestion of abandoning the imaginary issues that have been their stock in trade. What! Open the door to a third party by relinquishing either of our franchises? Rather will we invent, exploit, finance, and even carry into effect many and divers new issues!

Does not the American voter wish to be fooled? Munsey talks as if he merely deserved and needed to be educated!

No, if the issues between Conservatism and Radicalism as understood by Mr. Munsey are to be classified, debated, voted on and finally settled, it will not be through the initiative of either or both of the old parties.

And by way of advice to Mr. Munsey, as a defender of the status quo, including his own reputed large financial interests, I consider it extremely unconservative for him to stir things up as he is doing.

And in conclusion I shall mention similarly the bankers who are to circulate his address in pamphlet form, but will forbear and wish them all Godspeed!—Charles H. Ingersoll, Montclair, N. J.

A woman who had been visiting in the West and who had seen many interesting Indians bought some Indian dolls for her little New York friends.

The dolls were dressed in Indian fashion—shawl, colored handkerchief about head, moccasins, patchwork shirt and hand-made stockings. When she got home she looked to see what kind of underwear the Indians had made for the Indian dolls, and every one of them wore a georgette chemise!—New York Sun.

What Cities Have Accomplished by Zoning

Undoubtedly the most convincing statement which could be made in regard to the value of zoning is that practocally all of the large cities of the United States now feel that it is impossible to continue to develop further without the adoption of a building zone plan. New York, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Washington, Newark, Rochester, Omaha, not to mention smaller cities such as East Orange, N. J., Berkley, Cal., and Brockton, Mass., already have zoning ordinances in operation; while Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Portland, Oregon, Seattle, and many others have zoning plans in progress. Moreover, it is not alone our larger cities which realize the necessity for timely regulation of the uses of property. A considerable number of the small towns, especially in California, Ohio, Illinois, New Jersey and New York, either have passed zoning ordinances or have them in an advanced stage of preparation.

In fact, on May 22, 1922, 66 municipalities in the United States were on record as having zoning ordinances already enacted and 114 were reported to have zoning plans in progress.

Actual experience with zoning regulations has brought to light certain striking facts.

It is stated on reliable authority that the New York zoning regulations have prevented vast depreciation in many districts and effected savings in values amounting to millions of dollars in established sections. Certain districts have been rehabilitated as a direct result of the zoning ordinance. Another interesting result has been the production of a type of high building believed to be for better than the former elongated match-box type.

In an analysis of building permits issued in St. Louis in the first 14 months under the zoning ordinance, it was found that residences tended to follow the residence district and did not even attempt to seek locations in industrial or unrestricted areas. Except commercial buildings, which were built partly in commercial and partly in industrial districts, the development of St. Louis is said to be fitting itself very closely to the zoning plan.

To avoid the common condition that industrial plants encounter of having to do business on a "residential basis," denied large-scale facilities in their vicinity on account of protests by residence owners, Alameda, Cal., among other cities, has established industrial zones in which no new permits to build residences will be granted. A leading municipal engineer is quoted as saying that the prohibition of residences in industrial zones is one of the most important protections to put in a zoning ordinance. This method is being relied upon to develop Hoboke, N. J., as a great industrial terminal.

In New Jersey it has been found that the unzoned suburban town is at a distinct disadvantage as compared with the community protected by a zoning ordinance. People are asking themselves why they should invest money in a home or lend money on a mortgage in an unprotected, unzoned locality. The zoned towns are actually absorbing the better grade of development. The result has been that builders, architects, and real estate owners in unzoned towns are persistently urging their local councils to adopt zoning, so that they may have as good a selling proposition to offer prospective clients as their competitors in the zoned towns.

"LITTLE CARUSO" SINGS IRISH BALLAD

MIDNIGHT MATINEE TO FEATURE HOMECOMING

"LITTLE CARUSO" AT THE GRAND

While "My Wild Irish Rose," the picture now showing at the Grand, was produced from a combination of two Irish classics, the song of that name and "The Shaughraun," Dion Boucicault's Irish play, the picture itself was not produced for Irish eyes alone. It is true that those of Irish ancestry will thrill to the story of Ireland and its people when they see the picture and hear the Irish melodies, it is equally true that those whose ancestry was other than Irish will find a vast amount of pleasure in witnessing the photoplay.

And then, there is John Opray "Little Caruso" whose rendition of "Bartlett's Dream," "My Wild Irish Rose" and other numbers affords a treat one will not soon forget.

THE BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

Henri Margo's "Tints and Tones" is one of the bright spots on the current Orpheum bill. Music, song and dance in a glorious setting are introduced by this company of singers and dancers. Animal lovers will find enjoyment in the act offered by Carlton Emmy and his Mad Wags. The latter are 18 Scotch Terriers, who execute their performance with many a wag of the tail and bark of enthusiasm. A moral lesson with a tear and a laugh in every line is "Broken Promises," a one act playlet by Arthur DeVoy and his players. Scoring by his personality and good nature, Hughie Clark, known as "the commander and chief of the Army of patrons. Three singing humorists, Stanley, Doyle and Reno, are contributing their share of amusement. An unusual amount of daring and agility is shown by the Three Danoise Sisters. Election returns will be announced from the stage tonight.

CHARLES RAY TO THE STRAND

Guy Bates Post will be shown at the Strand theater for the last times today in "The Masquerader." The added attraction is a Felix Cat comedy cartoon, "Felix Makes Good." Charles Ray in "A Tailor Made Man," a picture adapted from George M. Cohan's famous stage success will be shown at the Strand theater Wednesday to Saturday.

BARRYMORE AT THE PARKWAY

John Barrymore in "Sherlock Holmes" is now at the Parkway. Adapted from Conan Doyle's famous stories, "Sherlock Holmes" has been made into a wonderful picture production. Barrymore brings to the screen a character that delights and thrills. It is a wonderful bit of acting. Carol Dempster and Reginald Denny head the supporting cast. The settings and staging is superb in every respect and the production as a whole is one of the finest pictures of the Parkway's fall season.

MIDNIGHT MATINEE FEATURE

Seats are now on sale for the special Homecoming midnight matinee Friday night at 10:30. Special stunts, vaudeville surprises and special movie attractions feature the program. Special film features include the first round of the new "Leather Pushers" series featuring Reginald Denny, Will Rogers in "The Ropin' Fool" and Lloyd Hamilton in "The Speeder." For the old grads a special reel of university events have been secured.

Saturday matinee and night Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn and the Denishawn Dancers will be here in their dance program, coming direct to Madison, from Orchestra Hall in Chicago. The seat sale opens at the box office Wednesday.

FOR THE COMMON GOOD

You shall never be great by your selfish deeds
  And the thing which you boast as skill;
And, save it is spent for a nation's needs,
  In vain as the iron will.
For ever the badge of the greater man
Is to sink himself for the common plan.

This is the lesson that life has taught
  Since the days of the earliest age—
Who, for himself has lived and fought,
  Has vanished from history's page—
And all in vain was that mortal's birth
Who did not better the ways of earth.

Gather your money and build your fame
  And rise to the heights of skill,
But Time shall give to the winds your name
  When your boastful voice is still;
But the joy you take you can never live,
For fame depends on the joys you give.

Trade and barter and strive for gain
  And sweat for your daily bread;
But all you do for yourself is vain
  When once is your stomach fed.
For the world has plenty of selfish deeds,
But toil, for the common good, it needs.

YOUTH WEDS OWN GRANDMOTHER BUT UNION'S ANNULLED

George Eye and his grandmother, Rebecca Eye.

George Eye, eighteen, of Calais, Maine, was married recently in St. Stephen, N. B., to his own grandmother, sixty-three. Rev. W. Goucher, who performed the ceremony, was unaware of the relationship until after the ceremony. When he learned of it he destroyed the marriage certificate, annulling the marriage and returned the wedding fee.

He Was Once a Vagabond

Mussolini, The New Italian Leader, Was Once Thrown Out Of Italy And Arrested In Switzerland; Is Man Of Terrific Drive And Speed

CERTAIN Italian gendarmes on the Swiss frontier at Chiasso are sticking out their chests these days and telling boastfully that they once ran Benito Mussolini, new premier of Italy out of that country—as a vagabond. And certain gentry of the Swiss Police forces are just as chesty when they tell how they kicked him out of Switzerland.

BENITO MUSSOLINI

These stirring days came early in the career of the fiery leader of the Fascisti who led the revolt against the Fasta cabinet and caused its overthrow.

Mussolini was 20 then. There was a warrant out for his arrest in Italy. He started for Switzerland. Close to the border near Chiasso he was recognized and, according to reports from Geneva, crossed the boarder "100 yards ahead of the police."

On foot he crossed the St. Gothard pass and reached Lucerne. There he found himself broke and hungry. Police arrested him as a vagabond. After many trials and tribulations he entered Lausanne university but his activities as a revolutionary socialist, confined principally to writing daring articles for Swiss and Italian papers, finally caused officials to expel him from Switzerland.

He went to Trent, Austria, only to be driven out there also because of his political beliefs. He finally returned to Italy when the declaration of a general amnesty eliminated chances of arrest and imprisonment. Settling in Milan, he became the editor of a socialist paper.

When Italy was faced with the necessity of declaring itself in with the allies or Germany Mussolini, in his paper, came out forcefully in favor of war on the side of the entente and the socialist party became incensed at his course. Editing a paper became too tame for Mussolini after the war began and he joined the army. He fought at Monte Nero and Carso and suffered severe wounds.

With his swift action, terrific speed and irresistible force which marks all his undertakings he crushed the Communists some months ago at Turin, the great manufacturing center of Italy. The Communists had seized the industrial machinery and proposed to run it on Bolshevist lines. Mussolini appeared in Turin in an airplane, swooped down, rallied the war veterans and other conservative elements and in a very few days the Bolshevist menace was ended and the industrial machinery began to function correctly.

Friends say that he is supporting the king but he wants him to govern. When he is convinced that the king does not govern, but drifts like his official advisers, it will be a difficult time for the king for there are 1,000,000 men ready to respond to Mussolini's call at any moment. The army is said to be at his command and the entire intellectual community of Italy to look to him for orders.

On the Side

CERTAINMENT

I met her in the street car
  And she frowned down at me.
I'd never seen the lady,
  Nor knew the name of she.

Her stare was cold and clammy.
  Her anger was not hid.
Did I get up and give her my seat?
  You know darn well I did.

"See that woman over there?"

"Yes, what about her?"

"Well, if it hadn't been for three words she said ten years ago, I would be as wealthy as Croesus now!"

"Delightful situation. Go ahead with the tale!"

"Well, her father owned all the safetypin plants in the country and the family was just rolling in wealth. And with all her riches she was mean enough to deprive me of my chances of making ten million dollars at a blow! Imagine!"

"What's the rest of the dope? What are the famous three words?"

"Why, I was going to marry her and then all her millions would have been mine but—"

"But what?"

"But when I asked her to be mine she said: 'No. You fool!'"—Amherst Lord Jeff.

Your sleeping porch is your most reliable protection against pneumonia.

Pneumonia is a house disease; as the windows go down, pneumonia mortality goes up. Clean, cold, moist, fresh air prevents pneumonia. This is "pneumonia weather" because people hibernate in hot, dry, unventilated houses.
